DRAWING AND WATERCOLORS- 2 days

"It is his deep appreciation for the beauty of nature around us that is reflected in his artwork."

Instructor: Jim Howard

Whether it is the cascading waters of a mountain river, or the quiet beauty of the deep forest, this Montana artist enjoys portraying in his art the wonders of God's creation.

He began drawing at a very early age. With formal training at the American Academy of Art in Chicago, Jim worked as a free-lance artist, doing advertising layout and design, and illustrating books for various publishing houses.

Jim and his wife, Joyce, have four grown children. They make their home in Bozeman, Montana. He is a signature member of the Montana Watercolor Society.

Jim works in watercolor, pencil, and pen and ink. He has taught classes in drawing and watercolor through community education programs such as this. See more of his work at:
