This information is for children and young people under 25.

...who need extra help with learning or have a disability.

SEND means special educational needs or disability.

TRAVEL:

If you find it more difficult to travel to school than others your age you college or work your local authority might help you.

To find out whether you can get support contact your local authority

Travel

Training

Your school or college may be able to teach you to travel on a journey safely.

This is called “travel training”.

WORK:

If you need support getting a job there are people who can help you.

Job coaches can help you find work and support you in the workplace

local offer

Information about job coaches should be on your local authority’s “Local Offer”.

A “Local Offer” is an online website giving information for people aged 0-25 with SEND.

Bristol:

Some people need changes to be made to a work place or equipment, for example wheelchair ramps.

access

work

Access to Work might be able to pay for the support you need.

For more information see:

<https://www.gov.uk/access-to-work>

LIVING INDEPENDENTLY

Some people need extra help such as learning to cook or learning to catch a bus.

If you need extra help you can ask for a social care assessment.

To get a social care assessment contact your local authority or social worker.

Accessing your community

The local offer should give information about social groups in your areas.

If you need support to visit friends or go to social activities ask for a social care assessment.

Social care have a duty to support people 18 and over with support needs to participate in:

- Work
- education
- training

- recreation.
