Knowledge In The Book: Right There			Write 3 diary events from Nick's perspective from his view of Mrs Starch. The 3 diary events should reflect his changing views and attitudes towards his teacher.	What are the key conservation issues raised in the novel?
Comprehension In the Book: Think and Search			Reflect on Nick's relationship with his father. How does he feel about his father's decision to join the army reserve? How does he cope with his father's disability?
Analysis & Application In My Head: Author and Me		Write a newspaper article after the students have returned from Black Vine Swamp having successfully saved the Panthers. Don't forget to create a catchy headline and make sure that you include quotes and information gathered from your research.		Imagine you are Mrs Starch. Write school reports for Marta, Nick and Duane. Before you start think about what kind of teacher Mrs Starch is and consider the different learning styles and skills of the students.	Make a poster to highlight the importance of protecting endangered species like the Florida panther.

Synthesis In My Head: On My Own	Choose one of the characters from the book. Write a description of that character from what you have learned at the start of the book, then write how that persons character has changed towards the end of the book.		What types of things do we base first impressions on and when are first impressions important?	Research one of the conservation issues found in the book.	Describe a situation where the students' first impressions of a person were proven wrong.
Evaluation In My Head: On My Own	Draw a picture of Duane before and after he changes appearance.			Write a letter to your MP expressing concerns about local environmental issues and the actions that you would like to see take place.	Write a review of the book. Would you recommend it to others and if so why?
