Holland & Company

Over a Century of Serving the Trade

For over a century, Holland & Company has imported English and European antiques and reproductions for sale to the design trade. It all began in 1903 when Walter Browne formed a company (W.E. Browne Decorating) in Atlanta, which became the South's first full-service interior design firm, decorating only the finest homes throughout the country and even decorating rooms in the White House. The Browne Company tradition continues today at Holland & Company, which was founded in 1971. Holland & Company Antiques was the first antiques importer in Atlanta to serve the trade exclusively. Thus, antiques have been a passion with Holland & Company for many years. And through years of antiquing in Europe, we have gained an in-depth knowledge of period furnishings and an eye for great design.

European Craftsmanship

There is a sense of history in England that lives on even today in our fast paced modern world. Our craftsmen take pride in what we build and how they build it for you and your family. They take pride in knowing what they create today will be passed down for generations to come. And, that matters to us as individuals and as a company. Quality, integrity, and sense of staying power resonate throughout our collections. We know trends may come and go, but our pieces stay grounded around a traditional hand knotted rug, an avocado green shag rug, a linoleum floor, or a natural fiber sisal. Just like a timeless Prada hand bag or a classic Chanel dress – these styles are here to stay. The same is true with our reproductions.

The Introduction of Aged Reproductions

In the early 1990s, the demand for antiques outpaced the supply. Drawing on years of experience collecting and selling European antiques, Holland & Company combined its in-depth knowledge of period furnishings and eye for great design to develop Aged Reproductions ~ a collection of fine furniture with the appearance and character of genuine antiques. The company employs a pool of talented antiques restorers, skilled cabinet-makers, and French polishers who create new furniture pieces with an authentic antique look.

Preserving the Traditions of Europe's Best

Made of the finest woods available, Aged Reproductions reflect the best of 18th and 19th century design and traditional European methods of furniture crafting. Bench-made in the company's workshops by expert cabinetmakers, each piece is authentically distressed, then meticulously finished and polished by hand to achieve the mellow patina characteristic of period furniture.

Available to the Trade Nationwide

Represented nationwide by Lee Jofa showrooms, Holland & Company's offerings satisfy the high standards of interior design professionals. This catalog showcases the current selections, and new designs are constantly added to the collection. Custom capabilities allow clients to order select items that can be tailored to individual specifications.

Prompt Delivery

A Quick Ship program is available on select items. Delivery for standard and custom designs is 20 weeks.
