A Guide to Residential Burglary Prevention

It is probably impossible to make your home completely burglary proof. However, our experience has shown that there are several preventive measures that homeowners can take to make it more difficult for burglars to enter your home; you can discourage them before they even attempt to force their way in.

Please read the following information carefully, and you will find many ways to assist you in this prevention effort.

I have also included a link to the National Crime Prevention Coalition which should prove useful in becoming more educated in the area of crime prevention.

HOW TO KEEP BURGLARS OUT--POINTS TO REMEMBER

1. Garages--Should be as secure as any other area of the house because:
  - A. They often contain ladders and tools which could be helpful to a burglar.
  - B. Attached garages provide visual cover for a burglary.
2. House Number--Should be clearly displayed front and back.
3. Lights--Exterior flood lights (front and back) and over garage are recommended. Interior-timed lighting devices should be utilized when not at home.
4. Basement Windows--Often overlooked by homeowners, basement windows should be secured to prevent forcing. Window locks should not be vulnerable if the glass is broken. Screening materials can be used effectively on these window wells or on window framing.

5. Doors--Solid core wood doors with rugged frames that cannot spread apart with a pry bar are recommended.

6. Door Locks--Quality dead bolt locks having a minimum 1-inch throw are recommended. These should be mounted so one cannot open the door after breaking a window. Mounting the lock low on the door can sometimes eliminate this problem. In other cases, a double cylinder lock will solve the problem.

7. Shrubs--Should be kept low enough so as not to block possible points of entry or to conceal a potential attacker.

8. Windows--Glass is most vulnerable to attack. Fortunately, many burglars are reluctant to break windows because of noise and because windows are often visible from the street or from neighboring dwellings. Windows hidden from view must be most securely protected!
