GABE KLEIN

Special Venture Partner at Fontinalis Partners, LLC

Gabe Klein is a sought after speaker, writer and consultant on increasingly essential topics such as entrepreneurial public leadership and positioning transportation as a transformative public investment. As an entrepreneur and adviser, he has worked in leadership roles in transportation, technology, consumer services and consulting.

In 2011, Gabe was Director of the Chicago Department of Transportation (CDOT) in Mayor Rahm Emanuel's administration. While at CDOT, Gabe and his management team transformed the agency into a national model for innovation in transportation finance, public and private partnerships and technology. In 2014, Gabe was awarded a Fellowship at the Urban Land Institute.

Before entering the public sphere, Gabe honed his creativity and leadership skills working for startups, including Zipcar, where he served as vice president. He also wrote a business model for the first point-to-point car sharing concept.

Currently, Gabe is Special Ventures Partner at Fontinalis Partners, a leading Venture Capital firm intelligently focused on technology investments in next-generation mobility.

Gabe and his work have been featured in major news outlets including, The New York Times, The Washington Post, Washington Business Journal, Bloomberg and many more.
