 514 10th Street NW
 Suite 400
 Washington, DC 20004

Phone:

Fax: 202-347-1168

Website: www.nwhn.org

Organization Description: The Network was established in 1975 to give women a greater voice in the US health care system. The only long-standing organization dedicated exclusively to women and health, their work ranges from providing individual women with information, or a perspective, that they can not get from their health care providers to lobbying federal agencies into making women's health concerns a top priority. In recent years they have dedicated themselves to reproductive rights, older women's health and access to health care.

Internship Description: Interns gain exposure to women's health issues while becoming skilled in health advocacy and research. Interns work 4 days a week for a minimum of 10 weeks. During that time they will be involved with The National Women's Health Network Information Clearinghouse. Interns will be attending hearings, responding to information requests, and updating health information packets. Intern positions are offered throughout the year.

Indianapolis, IN 46204

Phone: 317-233-6303

Email: icw@dwd.in.gov

Fax:

Website: www.in.gov/icw

Organization Description: Today there are approximately 270 state, county and local commissions for women located in the United States and its territories. These commissions are advocates for equality and justice for women and serve their communities in a variety of ways depending on the resources available. The Indiana Commission eliminates barriers to equality by informing leaders of business, education, governments and media of the nature and scope of sex discrimination, serving as a liaison between government and private interest groups concerned with services for women, and promoting consideration of women for government positions.

Internship Description: The ICW has a student program where college students can perform policy research, program planning, cover legislative hearings, and work with public relations, etc for college credit rather than monetary compensation. The Commission is willing to work with universities to ensure that students receive credit. If the budget allows, the Commission may be able to provide a stipend.
