Frequently Said Answers

1. I've been writing children's books since March 2010.
2. Two ways: 1st) I have no idea; 2nd) I try to think of something in an opposite, unexpected way. Like in my first book, The Tree With No Branches. Everyone knows that trees have branches, so what would happen to one if it didn't? What would the other trees think of it? Then I make sure I add the lesson, 'cause there is a lesson to be learned in just about anything.
3. Definitely white. Yes. White socks.
4. Yep! Her name is Nina, and she's so wonderful, it makes me sick!
5. What was that?
6. Depends on what I'm doing. I'm mostly right handed, however I type with my left hand on the left side of the keyboard. I push the little button to roll the window(s) down in my car with my left. Come to think of it, I usually hold the phone in my left, too. Crazy...huh?
7. Yes, all my children's books rhyme, but I'm mulling over making a couple that don't. Sounds a little weird if you know what I mean.
8. Yep. I have two crazy boys.
9. I like this thing called Pizza Pasta, and my mom's chicken and dumplings.
10. I've always liked the color blue.
11. Oh good. Me too!
12. (Smile) Yes. I'm an endodontist. Endo means "root canal" in Swahili, but I could be wrong about that part.
13. Amazing Grace.
14. Only if you have a book, an agent, and a publisher lined up.
15. Anywhere from 1½ hours to ½ of 1 month.
16. You mean another one?
17. Yes, I do. I sign books whenever I'm able.
18. Oh ... I'd say ... about ... every ... uh ... now and again.
