Adidas Springblade Running Shoes

Adidas’s Innovation Team has been hard at work engineering the 16 angled ~~flippers~~ blades on the bottom of their new Springblade running shoe, tuning them to meet the physical demands of each footfall and to respond by ~~swimming harder~~ pushing off à la... well, a spring. They’re promised to be ultra durable and to handle high temps seven times better than standard Adidas cushioning, too. Reminds us of powerbocking, but we’ll all have to wait until August 1 to find out for sure what these radical kicks are like. $180

Loll Designs Lollygagger Lounger

Minnesota born and bred, Loll’s Lollygagger is 100% recycled — it’s made of high-density polyethylene, which means it’s waterproof and guilt proof. It’s also promised to have the perfect seating position for an afternoon of sun-soaking, and an integrated bottle opener under the right armrest gives merit to that claim. It’s available in a variety of colors, so express your individuality, lay back and enjoy. $440

Sailormade Wristwear and Belts

What would you expect but braided ropes, sailcloth, nylon webbing and brass or bronze hardware? Sure, there are belts and bracelets here that call to mind adventure on the deep blue, but each piece is just as at home on land, paired with whatever natty dress you care to sport.
