

YOKO

THE BOB RAUSCHENBERG GALLERY on the campus of Edison State College in Fort Myers re-opens January 24, presenting 'Yoko Ono Imagine Peace,' an exhibition and installation of current and older works by the iconic artist. Four recent works: Wish Tree, Imagine Peace Maps, Onochord, and Imagine Peace Tower offer visitors the opportunity to collaborate with Yoko in creating the work of art. Guests can attach handwritten wishes for peace to the Wish Tree and have it delivered to the Imagine Peace Tower in Iceland, joining more than a million others.

ART

Visitors will also receive Imagine Peace buttons and Onochord flashlights that beam the message 'I Love You' gifts from Yoko.

The exhibition features Passages of Light, a documentary video that chronicles the conceptualization and construction of the Imagine Peace Tower. The Tower, a memorial to John Lennon from Yoko, is a tall column of light, projected from a white stone monument 'wishing well' that has the words 'Imagine Peace' carved into it in 24 languages. The exhibition also features reinterpretations of older works, Parts of a Lighthouse, Mend Peace, and Play It By Trust.

FOR

Prior to the opening reception January 24, co-curator Kevin Concannon presents a lecture in the Rush Library auditorium at 6pm. Lecture and reception, 7-9pm, are free and open to the public.

PEACE

'Yoko Ono Imagine Peace' is on view at the Bob Rauschenberg Gallery January 24-March 29. The gallery is open Mon-Fri 10am-4pm & Sat 11am-3pm. Admission is free. The gallery is located on the campus of Edison State College at 8099 College Pkwy. in Fort Myers. For more information, call 489-9313.

ONO

ILLUSTRATION BY ANDREW ELIAS

