a municipal advisory council

ARTICLE I

ESTABLISHMENT, PURPOSES, FUNCTIONS AND ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE

SECTION 1.01. ESTABLISHMENT OF MIDCOAST COMMUNITY COUNCIL.

The MIDCOAST COMMUNITY COUNCIL (the "Community Council") is established by Resolution No. 55042, a Resolution Establishing the Midcoast Community Council (the "Board Resolution") adopted May 21, 1991 by the Board of Supervisors of San Mateo County, California (the "Board of Supervisors"). The Community Council is established for the unincorporated areas, as defined by identified San Mateo County election precincts, of Montara, Moss Beach, El Granada, Miramar and Princeton (the "Area"). At the regular San Mateo County election held on November 5, 1991 the registered voters of the Area approved the establishment of the Community Council and elected the initial members.

SECTION 1.02 PURPOSES. Subject to the public purposes described by the Board Resolution but otherwise without limitation, the purposes of the Community Council include the following:

1. To provide the Community with a more effective means to express its views to the County of San Mateo and other governmental agencies on matters of concern to the Community;
2. To contribute to the Community's awareness of issues of public import by providing a forum for discussions, and sponsoring meetings, discussions, and other events which will contribute to the general welfare, knowledge and awareness of the Community regarding such issues;
3. To seek to preserve the rural small-town character of the Area by protecting the existence of agricultural lands, commercial fishing activities and the natural marine environment; supporting the retention of a greenbelt around urban areas of the County of San Mateo; maintaining the coastal protections afforded by the County Local Coastal Plan and Measure A (1986), and seeking to manage growth in a manner which is consistent with the present character of the Area ;

4. To assist the Community in developing and expressing a long range vision of the Community which meets the goals of its residents for an improved quality of life, protection of the environment, and sound economic planning;
5. To assist the many associations, organizations, ad hoc groups and individuals of the Community, who seek to communicate with the County of San Mateo and other governmental agencies about matters of public interest, in bringing issues before the Community and in representing the Community before such governmental bodies; and
6. To provide a vehicle for exploring the feasibility and merits of governmental organization alternatives, including but not limited to incorporation or annexation.

SECTION 1.03. GOVERNMENTAL FUNCTIONS. The Community Council is established to advise the Board of Supervisors on such matters which relate to the Area concerning services which are or may be provided to the Area by San Mateo County or other local governmental agencies, including but: not limited to advice on matters of public health, safety, welfare, public works, and planning and, unless the Board of Supervisors specifically provides to the contrary, to represent the Community to any state, county, city, special district or school district, agency or commission, or any other organization on any matter concerning the Community.

SECTION 1.04 ORGANIZATIONAL STRUCTURE.

- a. The Community as the basis for decision. The basis for decision is the Community. The Community is broadly defined. It encompasses all natural persons who have a continuing and substantial interest, or who represent such an interest, in the Area. Such interests include, without limitation, the interests of minors, tourists, camper/trailer and boat residents, the homeless and other persons and their organizations as well as the interests of owner's, tenants, operators, managers or residents of property and owners, operators, managers or employees of businesses and public or other enterprises conducted on property, in the Area. The purposes identified by Section 1.02 Purposes, express Community objectives. From time to time other purposes may be identified which express additional objectives. Objectives may be developed into concrete proposals and competing or conflicting objectives may be reconciled in specific contexts. The Bylaws provide a legal structure by which such decisions may be made by the Community.
- b. Community participation in Community decisions. Community decisions are made by Community participation. Such participation could take the form of a voting method. However, the Community is not easily and inexpensively ascertainable, and even if it were, vote weighting presents a major difficulty. More realistic would be identification of a significant segment of the Community that is readily ascertainable, such as the registered voters, and the placement of Community decisions in their hands. However, the registered voters are only a part of the Community, and thus are not always representative of the Community. Furthermore, their active participation by voting in all Community decisions is time consuming and expensive. Rather, Community decision-making by the registered voters is more practicably confined to certain fundamental decisions in which the registered voters may be expected to serve as a rough proxy for the Community. The most important of these decisions is the election of the Community Council.

- c. Community Council as agency in making Community decisions. The Community Council is the agency of the Community in the making of Community decisions. To that end the Community Council will identify Community objectives, develop concrete proposals that satisfy to a greater or lesser degree certain of those objectives, and reconcile conflicting objectives by choosing among proposals in specific contexts. It will do this while encouraging the maximum active participation of the Community in decision making. It will provide for the participation of the Community in meetings of the Community Council and other agencies. It will foster the maximum active interchange of ideas among members of the Community and between members of the Community and members of the Community Council. By consensus, the common civic interests of the Community will be determined. Once determined, the Community Council will assist the Community in furthering them and in their achievement.
- d. Community Council responsiveness to Community participation promoted by elections by personal contact. The faithful implementation of these procedures for determining Community consensus requires that the members of the Community Council be uniquely committed to participatory democracy. Members of the Community Council whose elections are based on personal contact are more likely to be responsive to members of the Community when decisions are made than are those whose election is dependent on more conventional campaign methods.
- e. Continuing active responsibility to Community of Community Council and members. The members of the Community Council shall have a continuing responsibility throughout their terms to maximize personal contact with members of the Community so as to facilitate their full and fair representation and the complete and accurate distribution of information. To the same end the Community Council shall aid and encourage television taping and rebroadcasting of all regularly-scheduled Community Council meetings.

- f. Community Council election by geographic:: divisions integral to Community consensus system of participatory democracy.
