

run the Edgar's Basketball Tournament. Josh currently works at the Elk Point Daycare and Jones' Food Center, where he continues to take on new responsibilities. By volunteering throughout the school and the town, Josh has shown himself to be a respectable citizen of Elk Point and a reliable student at EPJ.

As a sign of appreciation for his hard work, Josh is awarded a choice spot in the school parking lot for the month of March, and his picture will be on display in the commons trophy case. Congratulations to Josh for all of his worthy achievements.

asset to the fine arts department by running the sound and lights for concerts, plays, and other performances. He is also a member of the National Honor Society, where he contributes to worthy community service projects.

als the Show at Science Fair tend the National Science Fair in Phoenix, Arizona, May 12-17.

Other award winners included Austin Taylor, who won the Premier Science Award which included a $50 cash prize and the Army Award.

Miranda Stabe, a sophomore, received the Army Award and its prize of certificates and tangible awards. She also received first place in her category with a $50 cash prize.

Emma and Sammi McInerney, partners in science fair, won the American Society for Clinical Laboratory Science-SD Chapter Award. They received a certificate and a $50 cash prize. They also won the SDSU Pharmacy College Award, which consisted of $100 cash award and a certificate.

Audrey Truhe and Anna Chicoine, both seniors, won the Midwest Section of the American Association for Clinical Chemists Award and with it a $90 cash prize.

Tori Johnson and Maddie Scholdt, both freshmen, won the SDSU Plant Science Department Award, earning a $75 cash award and certificate for Senior Division. The two also won the Society for In Vitro Biology Award.

Jessica Brown and Becca Brewer, also freshmen, won the Stockholm Junior Water Prize which contained certificates and a chance to progress to state/Stockholm competition and possibly the chance to win an all-expense-paid trip to Sweden.

Other students placing at the event included Keegan Mahin, Bailey Weavill, Dalton Croy, Blake Bertrand, and Jami Johnston. Teachers Karlene Stabe and Melanie Norris were very pleased with all the students that participated in science fair. EPJ had a winner in all six categories.

at Coyote Festival

By: Conner Kneip

On Thursday, March 14, the EPJ jazz band and show choir travelled to Vermillion for the annual Coyote Jazz Festival. During the competition, jazz bands and show choirs from all over the state showed what they have been working on throughout the year by performing at the University of South Dakota.

Both groups from EPJ performed in the morning and stayed to watch the jazz bands and show choirs from other schools. Not only does this great experience let students see what other groups have accomplished, but it also gives them a chance to support their fellow musicians and show their own accomplishments.

Awards are also given out to the top five jazz bands and show choirs in each division to inspire some competition between groups. Both the jazz band and the show choir received fifth place in their divisions, with the jazz band competing against thirteen other schools and the show choir against twelve schools.

The EPJ show choir and jazz band have shown superior performances at the Coyote Jazz Festival in past years, and this year was no exception. Both groups from the EPJ music department had a great experience and hope to return for next year's festival.

Nicholas Stamp

Parents: John Stamp and Rebecca Stamp

Siblings: David and Chris Stamp

Birthday: October 6, 1994

Future Plans: become a radio DJ or HVAC technician

HS Activity: show choir

Little-known Fact about Me: I've never broken a bone in my life.

Role Models: Barney Stinson, David Stamp

I've Always Wanted to Visit: Chicago

Hobbies: cars, guns, video games

Age I'd Love to be Forever: 18 -- you can do almost anything without the bills.

Advice for Underclassmen: It's hard to catch up if you're always behind.

Famous-person Crush: Emma Stone

FAVORITES:

Quote: "Everything and nothing is possible." - Barney Stinson/Neil Patrick Harris

School Memory: being in class with Cody Strassburg

Superhero: Everyman from the Simpsons

Movie: Jurassic Park trilogy

TV Show: How I Met Your Mother

Book/Author: The Vampire Assistant

Food: pizza

Song/Artist: Skillet, Fun

Sports Team: Colts

Holiday: Christmas

d Rarrat Serve at the State Capitol

Haberling. After the meeting, the two students filled out applications which required a House or Senate sponsor as well as two letters of recommendation.

Joe has always had an interest in politics in South Dakota, and Kristen's grandfather worked for Tim Johnson, Tom Daschle, and Tom Harkin during his lifetime.

Nevertheless, Joe and Kristen were a little nervous about missing two weeks of school. In fact, Joe Lyon goes on to involve tasks such as putting mail into legislative mailboxes, attending committee meetings, getting coffee, making copies, and answering phone calls.

The pages had the opportunity to meet prominent politicians such as South Dakota's Senators, the Lieutenant Governor, Governor Daugaard and the First Lady. They even had the chance to eat dinner with the Governor at his mansion and explore the tunnels underneath the Capitol building.

Quiz Bowl Team a for Conference