

challenge me to do better academically and nurture my interest in math and science, although I enjoy other subjects, too.”

Raquel Rosenbaum's parents are Ron, Sr., and Tammy Rosenbaum, and her siblings are Ron, Jr., Racheal, Angela, and Rachel. Her school activities are volleyball, basketball, track, acceleration, and State Science Fair. She attends confirmation classes at Immanuel Lutheran Church, and she works as a babysitter for her nieces. Her interests involve sports, spending time with friends and family, boating, and jet skiing. Raquel's role models are her older sisters Angie and Rachel because they inspire her. The teachers and coaches are her favorite part of EPJ Middle School. Other students honored as Citizens of the Week for February are pictured below.

Make it Easy

For e-books and OverDrive Media Console for audiobooks, are readily accessible and easy to install on all commercially-available e-readers and tablets. After either of these programs is installed, the website southdakota.lib.overdrive.com can be used to access the online library. From the Sign In section of the website, Elk Point-Jefferson Community & School Library can be selected to browse for books. A Patron ID number, which can easily be obtained from the Elk Point Community Library, is needed to start borrowing books.

This great feature was made possible through a consortium of South Dakota libraries. Member libraries, which include our own Elk Point Community Library, pay a membership fee to access the online library, and a board
