Queensland Youth Orchestras Seek Queensland's Finest Musical Talent

2015 Applications now Open for Membership in Seven Different QYO Ensembles

19 June 2014- Audition applications are now open for entry into the Queensland Youth Orchestras, Australia's most well-known youth orchestral training program.

Comprising seven different groups and ensembles, Queensland Youth Orchestras is made up of over 450 members ranging in age from 8 to 25. Membership is granted on a yearly basis, and current members reaudition annually for entry into each ensemble.

Auditions will be held in October 2014 and are judged by a panel of professional musicians. In 2013, over 650 musicians applied for 450 places throughout QYO.

Established in 1966 by John Curro AM MBE, QYO has grown into Australia's finest training organisation for young musicians, and QYO alumni are heavily represented in professional orchestras throughout Australia and internationally.

Audition information is available for each of the QYO ensembles at qyo.org.au/joingyo2015/.

For an application form or for further information about auditions for 2015, visit www.qyo.org.au or contact Queensland Youth Orchestras on 07 3257 1191 or info@qyo.org.au. Applications close at 5pm, Saturday 2 August 2014.
