Pentecost

When the day of Pentecost came, they were all together in one place.

2 Suddenly a sound like the blowing of a violent wind came from heaven and filled the whole house where they were sitting. 3 They saw what seemed to be tongues of fire that separated and came to rest on each of them.

4 All of them were filled with the Holy Spirit and began to speak in other tongues as the Spirit enabled them.

Acts 2:1-4

Liturgical Reflection

Pentecost Sunday

FIRST READING: Acts 2:1-11

This story recounts the origin of the many and varied languages spoken by humankind. Such diversity was viewed as both a punishment and a check by the Lord to stop humans from the kind of self-assertion evidenced in their attempts to “make a name” (Gen 11:4) for themselves through their own efforts. Such misguided and uncontrolled drives could be disastrous. Unable to understand one another because of their diverse languages, the people were dispersed throughout the world. At Pentecost, the disciples’ gift of tongues would overcome these barriers and serve the proclamation of the Gospel and the faith of those from far off lands who heard them. Luke records the descent of the Holy Spirit as fulfilling both the prophecy of John the Baptist (see Luke 3:16) and the promise of the resurrected Christ (see Acts 1:8).

RESPONSORIAL PSALM: 104

This Psalm of praise declares the majesty and glory of God. Through our proclamation of this song, we ask God to renew the outpouring of the Spirit upon us, and upon the earth. All of creation is a sign of God’s greatness; the spirit of the Lord brings life and renewal.

SECOND READING: 1 Corinthians 12:3-7, 12-13

Through Baptism, believers have received the Spirit of God, the first-fruit of the new creation. Yet, the life of God is still coming to be realized within us. The Spirit we have been given works within us and prays within us until all is accomplished. The gifts given to each person are for the benefit of the whole community. This makes each individual gifted and responsible to the entire body.

GOSPEL: John 20:19-23

The Resurrection narrative heard today is the first encounter between the risen Christ and the disciples. Jesus has a twofold message to his disciples who are frightened and in hiding. The first is a message of comfort twice repeated:

“Peace be with you.” The second is a message of commission: “Receive the Holy Spirit. Whose sins you forgive are forgiven them, and whose sins you retain are retained.” Just as Luke reports on the descent of the Holy Spirit in today’s First Reading, John, too, offers his own version of Pentecost, the birth of the Church.

ABOUT THIS SUNDAY

The word Pentecost is Greek and it means “50th day.” Fifty days after Easter Sunday, we celebrate the coming of the Holy Spirit upon the Apostles and their followers, and the beginning of their Earthly ministry to make disciples of all nations. Pentecost is also a Jewish holiday, which the Jews use to celebrate the end of Passover. Jews celebrate the gift of the law to Moses at Mt. Sinai on this day. But we, as Catholics celebrate the birth of our Church.

At Pentecost, the Apostles and their followers were gathered in a room. Jews from all over the world were gathered with Peter, the leader of the Apostles and the Eleven. At this time, a great wind blew and a flame appeared as a tongue of fire, which split itself into many individual flames above the heads of all those present. The Holy Spirit came upon these people and each began to speak in tongues. Despite the fact many had no common language, they were perfectly able to understand one another. Peter then called all those present to be baptized and about three thousand people were baptized that day. These people were among the first Catholics, and Peter is the first pope of the Catholic Church.

The symbols of Pentecost are the flame, wind, and the dove, which represents the Holy Spirit. The color of Pentecost is red and the priest wears red vestments on this day. Parishioners are also invited to wear red on this day. Red decorations as well as celebrations are appropriate, similar to any other birthday.

SAMARITAN HOUSE - 20 YEARS OF SERVICE

“Before and above all things, care must be taken of the sick, that they be served in very truth as Christ is served.” Samaritan House is celebrating 20 years of service to our community, helping guests die with dignity and loving care. We have served over 100 souls in our 20 years, on an all volunteer basis. Currently we are seeking to increase our volunteer base. Our volunteers, some of whom started this ministry, have aged out, become ill, are caring for family members or have moved away. When a guest is in residence, there are 35 shifts per week to fill. Daytime shifts are 4 hours and nights are 8 hours. We ask for family involvement, but often they are unable to do so. No medical experience is required to volunteer, just the desire to lovingly serve each guest. Volunteers work with an experienced volunteer until they feel comfortable. End of life care is about safety, comfort and caring. The ability of Samaritan House to accept guests is totally dependent on our volunteers. We URGENTLY need to recruit new volunteers! Please visit the Samaritan House website at www.samaritanhouseofwellsboro.com to review our history and comments from volunteers. An application can be downloaded and emailed to dstager@ptd.net. or dropped off at the Rectory. Please call Julie Stager (570-376-2424) or Laurie Coffee (570-549-2210) if you have any questions. Thank you for your consideration of this important ministry!

PRIESTS FOR LIFE

Fifty days after the Passover, the People of Israel celebrated "Pentecost," observing the giving of the law on Mount Sinai, when God wrote the law with his own finger on the tablets of stone. The feast was originally rooted in the celebration of the harvest. It was on that Pentecost Day that the apostles reaped the harvest of the Lord's Passover of suffering, crucifixion, and resurrection, and received the Holy Spirit, who writes the law on our hearts.

This same Holy Spirit who came mightily on Pentecost comes to us. The same Spirit is in us, by our baptism and confirmation - the same Spirit who transformed the apostles, who raises the dead, and who changes bread and wine into Christ's Body and Blood. That same Spirit is in us, and this should give us tremendous confidence in following Christ. The Spirit brings many gifts, and one of them is to enable us to see creation in its proper relationship to God - including the crowning of his creation, the gift of human life.

When we do not have this light of the Holy Spirit, the law we have to follow seems like an imposition from the outside that limits our freedom. That's what people in the world sometimes feel about our attitude toward abortion and euthanasia. They think we are "restricting rights." But when the Holy Spirit fills us, he gives us an inner attraction to all that is right and good, so that we do not feel pushed where we would rather not go, but rather pulled by the attractiveness of what is good and right. www.priestsforlife.org

That's The Way It Is!

In 1972 BBC did a series on the six wives of Henry VIII. It is a very good series. When I taught theology I used the series when we covered the Reformation. There was a modern remake of the series called “Secrets of the Six Wives.” If you want to watch the remake series you can go to Amazon Video. If you want to watch the original BBC series go to Youtube.

Catherine of Aragon was the first wife of Henry VIII. She was the daughter of Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain. Henry VIII divorced her for Anne Boleyn. Catherine of Aragon and Henry VIII were married for over 20 years before he divorced her. In my article this week I want to talk about her amazing life. You would think her being royalty would have meant she had an easy, pampered life with the finest of things and people waiting on her for her every wish. The fact is that nothing could be further from the truth. Catherine of Aragon had a difficult life and the Tudors treated her very poorly. Catherine certainly didn't have the life Megan Markle can expect to have as a newly minted princess in England.

Catherine of Aragon was originally betrothed to Henry's brother Arthur. Catherine and Arthur were married in November of 1501. In April of 1502 Arthur died. When Arthur died, Henry Duke of York became heir to the throne. Henry VII decided Catherine would marry his son Henry Duke of York. Henry VII, however, changed his mind and made Henry Duke of York renounce her. Catherine was sent to Durham House in London. Her living conditions here were not what we would consider befitting a princess. Catherine's letters indicate that she had little money to support herself or her household. She also did not have enough food. Henry VII coldly told her that he considered the fact that he was even giving her any food to be charity.

When Henry VII died, Henry Duke of York succeeded him and became Henry VIII. He married Catherine despite renouncing her previously. Henry VIII and Catherine remained married for some 20 years. The marriage was largely happy save for one problem: Catherine did not bear him a male heir. Henry considered it essential to have a male heir. This is because the Tudor dynasty was relatively new. Also, Henry was not sure how England would take to a female ruler. Eventually Henry fell in love with another woman named Anne Boleyn. Henry divorced Catherine and married Anne despite papal objections. Henry declared himself the head of the Church in England and broke communion with the Roman See; thus founding the Anglican Church. To this day, the sovereign of England remains the titular head of the English Church.

Before Henry broke from the Church, Henry applied for an annulment. The process was going too slow for him. Henry was pressuring the cardinals involved in the case to resolve it in favor of him. The Cardinals then pressured Catherine to give in or otherwise find a compromise. Even under pressure from the Church, Catherine refused to give in. She fought to the day of her death for her marriage. Catherine never saw Henry as anything other than her husband. Catherine was faithful to him.

Catherine loved Henry to the end. What stands out to me after Henry divorced her is that Catherine cared only for the salvation of Henry's soul and she prayed for that. On her death bed, she wrote to him and forgave him. She also told him that she hopes God will forgive him because she wants Henry to have salvation. Here is what Catherine wrote: “My most dear lord, king and husband, The hour of my death now drawing on, the tender love I owe you forceth me, my case being such, to commend myself to you, and to put you in remembrance with a few words of the health and safeguard of your soul which you ought to prefer before all worldly matters, and before the care and pampering of your body, for the which you have cast me into many calamities and yourself into many troubles. For my part, I pardon you everything, and I wish to devoutly pray God that He will pardon you also. For the rest, I commend unto you our daughter Mary, beseeching you to be a good father unto her, as I have heretofore desired. I entreat you also, on behalf of my maids, to give them marriage portions, which is not much, they being but three. For all my other servants I solicit the wages due them, and a year more, lest they be unprovided for. Lastly, I make this vow, that mine eyes desire you above all things. Katharine the Queen.” While the authenticity of this letter is in question, the attitude it reveals is not.

Catherine wanted nothing more than to see Henry before she died. Henry not only ignored the letter, the day she was buried he openly celebrated her death. Henry's actions make this especially tragic. I think it safe to say that Henry had a lot to answer for when he stood before the King of Kings. Catherine was known throughout her life for her piety and dedication to the Catholic Faith.

That's the way it is!
