

An Alumnus Perspective

To supporters of The Point of Grace Campus Ministry:

I am currently a professor of political science at the University Wisconsin-Stevens Point. My association with this ministry began about three years ago [when I was a graduate student at UWM]. I wanted to locate a ministry that demonstrated a commitment to helping mentally disadvantaged individuals. I found it in The Point of Grace. However, my association did not stop there. I soon participated in other activities and became a member rather quickly and attended worship services at the church. I then participated on a frequent basis in music related activities associated with the ministry.

I cannot say enough good things about this ministry, the people, and the time I have spent there. I have made lifelong friends, saw lives changed on a consistent basis, and heard the gospel preached in a contemporary setting though firmly based on the rich traditions of the WELS synod. This is a ministry that is sorely needed given its emphasis on striving to provide the best possible environment for young people to grow spiritually in a culture that needs radical transformation. I'm proud to be a continual partner of this ministry and can't wait to see where God is leading us next.

Best Regards,

Jeffrey Guse

A Supporter's Perspective

We received the following anonymous letter in the mail over the summer:

Dear Christian Friends,

As a WWII vet, a '49 UW grad and former school board member of a Milwaukee suburb, I can see the many challenges facing Christian students today. Decade after decade of human reasoning has resulted in the decline of true Christianity and the advance of religions which appeal to oneself or the elimination of religion altogether.

Christian students have a tremendous challenge in today's society but with God nothing is impossible as I've personally experienced in my life. Don't be afraid of the unknown or be worn down by people who consider you as some oddball who just doesn't fit in. Just be yourself: a Christian who knows sin but is saved by Christ the Savior of all who believe.

Signed: "A senior friend"

Thank you for your wisdom & encouragement, dear Senior Friend!
