Compliance and Certification

In sectors such as biomedical, pharmacy, social or finances, conformity with national and international regulations is impossible to circumvent. Akuter helps its customers to stay compliant and avoid the many problems resulting from any compliance failure.

Complying with safety-related regulations, procedures, privacy or confidentiality is not an option. At any time a company can be audited and have to provide proof that its procedures and its personnel conform to regulations.

Akuter provides a control by electronic signature which makes sure that there has been no intrusion or illicit handling of the system. Procedures can change daily and all measures must be taken to make sure that each employee is informed, trained and consequently certified.

Akuter Enterprise includes an alert center which automatically informs employees and their supervisors that a new procedure has been published and corresponding certification programs updated.

The tracking system informs users and supervisors, in real time, of progress made in comparison with pre-determined schedules and objectives. Users and supervisors can access results and edit personalized reports.

Using Akuter Enterprise, a real time intelligent system for the 21st century Corporation, you are able to personalize your learning and instructional material, track all activity and manage customized curricula.

You keep everything under your control, without fear to have crucial data at risk or in the hands of others.

Make conformity your strong point.
