

We're an organization deeply rooted in our local communities. For 34 years, we have relied on volunteers from across the southwest suburbs of Chicago — Homewood, Palos Hills, Romeoville, and many neighboring towns — to play highly valued roles in our day-to-day operations.

At every step of our development and expansion as a nonprofit, healthcare organization, our volunteer staff have stood shoulder to shoulder with our professional staff making sure that every detail of the things that we do — in the clinics, at events, in our marketing, for our facilities — get done professionally, on time, and with a friendly smile.

The Speech and Hearing Center is a great place to volunteer

- Experience — 32 years of it providing communication healthcare to the southwest suburbs
- Fit — we'll find a position that takes advantage of your unique skills
- Teamwork — we believe that strong teams can move mountains
- Locations — we're just around the corner in Homewood, Palos Hills, and Romeoville
