

INVITE ROB “KINGFISH” WOOD TO YOUR NEXT SPEAKING EVENT

Life is too short to spend it doing anything except the things that excite you, and that’s why Rob felt compelled to write “The Kingfish Way.” His short, humorous novel has received a 5-star rating on Amazon.com and has touched a cross-section of readers, both young and old.

In his FREE motivational talk (lasting 1 to 1.5 hours) Rob highlights the "KNOW-FREE-BE" system from his book "The Kingfish Way." (To learn more about "KNOW-FREE-BE," visit www.thekingfishway.com and click “Resources” and then “Manifesto.”) Rob is also available for half-day, full-day and two-day workshops. Designed to empower people and help them find their "sweet spot" in business and in life, The Kingfish Way motivational speeches and workshops have been well-received. Coupled with Rob's book and the free downloadable Manifesto (a how-to manual for living "The Kingfish Way."), the people attending these seminars often feel empowered and encouraged by the down-to-earth message and Rob’s optimistic style.

Rob Wood is an author, storyteller, mentor, and cheerleader. He has a deliberate view of how we should travel through life. He has a double-dose of ADHD, but considers this an asset since he gets to start a lot of things which other people finish. Rob's career has taken him into accounting, human resources, manufacturing, the stock market, consulting and public speaking.