01:00:28 Alyssa McClean: 5
01:00:29 Julie Contos: 4
01:00:31 Cassie Widdison-Simmons: 7
01:00:32 Chuck Areford: 3
01:00:33 CHRISTINE BRUGLER: multiple!
01:00:33 Becky Zakowski: 7
01:00:38 Wendy Greenspun: 7
01:00:42 Mary Tigner-Rasanen (she/her): hard to count.
01:00:50 Lisa Moulds: 7
01:00:56 Danielle Humphreys (she/her) WFCN: 9
01:01:33 Julie Contos: 25
01:01:47 Lisa Moulds: 49
01:01:57 Tim Neubauer: Very powerful to understand this on a community level.
01:07:20 Sri (she/elle): I deeply appreciate the Matryoshka doll model concept embedded in the LINC model. If you knock the outer dolls over, the inner dolls will fall. And if there is enough instability amongst the inner dolls, the outer dolls can also fall. It seems almost silly to try to tackle each level of doll without acknowledging their nested nature.
01:09:10 Sri (she/elle): Mothers of the Plaza de Mayo! :)
01:13:49 Jessica Bee, she/her: Thank you Sri for this connection.
01:20:44 Danielle Humphreys (she/her) WFCN: That last point is so important, and I feel often overlooked
01:33:03 Sri (she/elle): I keep hitting the breakout group lottery: thank you Kathryn D., for a wonderful conversation :)
01:33:26 Lisa Moulds: Connections Matter!
01:33:38 Sri (she/elle): Lisa, so well put!
01:33:45 Jessica Bee, she/her: Thank you Nayo and Danielle for making time to look at this statement work together.
01:37:56 Danielle Humphreys (she/her) WFCN: Jessica and Nayo helped me think about the ways in which my program can help build resilience in disproportionately affected groups (in my work with youth suicide prevention and wellness, this would be BIPOC and LGBTQ+ youth) by lifting up ancestral strength and resilience, as well as chosen families. We could have used more time! :)
01:38:27 Sri (she/elle): Judith, what you shared about those modified or expanded introductions resonated with me. I often find that I introduce myself as both an individual self, and also as a communal self in spaces that give me the freedom and safety to do that.
01:40:14 Sri (she/elle): Danielle, such a great note on chosen families. Doesn't get honoured enough, nor the effort that youth [and adults] have to go through to assemble those chosen family members. It's basically having to take a crash course in identifying safety; that's not an easy take by any means!
01:41:35 Danielle Humphreys (she/her) WFCN: ^Sri, yes, thank you for noting that!
01:45:29 Cintha Archer: Please can you share the dropbox link for the slides?
01:45:46 Jessica Bee, she/her: 5
01:45:54 Mary Tigner-Rasanen (she/her): 5
01:45:55 CHRISTINE BRUGLER: 12
01:45:58 Cassie Widdison-Simmons: 5
01:46:00 Becky Zakowski: 6
01:46:00 Chuck Areford: 7
01:46:00 Danielle Humphreys (she/her) WFCN: 5
01:46:03 Alma Quiroz: 5
01:51:38 Becky Zakowski: Hillbilly Elegy
01:51:54 Megen Naude: Burning Kentucky
01:51:56 Sri (she/elle): ^^ Yes, Becky!
01:54:26 Mary Tigner-Rasanen (she/her): There is some controversy over generalizing the story of Hillbilly Elegy to represent Appalachian community.
01:56:24 Danielle Humphreys (she/her) WFCN: Thank you, Judith! This is very inspiring
01:56:31 Cintha Archer: Would it be possible to have a link to the slides for those of us on GMT who didn't realize there was a time change!
01:57:04 Sri (she/elle): Cintha, this is the link that Kisha provided for us at the beginning with the slides: https://www.dropbox.com/sh/s3r0wzdbigyebnw/AAAAe7oYX_rj93zz1hHpCLBlba?dl=0
01:57:33 Kisha Lendore (she/her): Thank you Sri!
01:57:42 Cintha Archer: Thank you Sri much appreciated, I cant see it at the beginning.
02:00:27 Mona Delavan: schools need resilience
02:00:27 Sri (she/elle): Judith, in my mind, safety in one's body, one's chose family, one's community, and one's systems is a prerequisite to connection, and then hope. Connecting can feel extremely unsafe when attempts to connect in the past have been used as means of exploitation. What are ways that have served you well to cultivate safety?
02:00:32 Sri (she/elle): chosen*
02:00:40 Lisa Moulds: Youth mental well-being
02:00:58 Chuck Areford: Homelessness
02:01:00 Tim Neubauer: Unemployment, domestic violence, substance abuse
02:01:02 Jul Bystrova: activists and first responders
02:01:09 Mona Delavan: community climate awareness
02:01:23 Jessica Bee, she/her: Self Value and Community Value being realized in a decades long devalued community.
02:01:32 Becky Zakowski: inequity r/t at home learning due to Covid
02:01:53 Jessica Bee, she/her: ^agreed Becky
02:02:18 Mary Tigner-Rasanen (she/her): Recognition by the dominant culture of the value of the non-dominant cultures.
02:02:25 Tijana Vukicevic: I'm thinking about my workplace (community mental health) who have a very relaxed attitude about climate change in my organisation. I am thinking about how to raise awareness in the charity and take responsible steps as an organisation to ensure we have environmentally friendly policies in place
02:02:26 Danielle Humphreys (she/her) WFCN: Wow . Identifying those milestones for youth as they go through adolescence is important.
02:02:51 Xavier Justice: Clergy and communities of faith supporting adherents and strategic community renewal
02:02:56 Danielle Humphreys (she/her) WFCN: (especially in the context of safety and wellness. And taking time to celebrate in the midst of challenges
02:03:04 Julie Contos: Increase social resilience in mental health population, food insecurity, climate crisis
02:04:32 Kisha Lendore (she/her): Please take a few moments to complete a brief evaluation

02:07:08 Mary Tigner-Rasanen (she/her): Thank you for the message about inclusion of naysayers. It is something to prepare for.
02:07:23 Jessica Bee, she/her: Thank you Judith.
02:07:26 CHRISTINE BRUGLER: Thank you!
02:07:28 Xavier Justice: and the bigots!
02:07:35 Lisa Moulds: Thank you!
02:08:06 Sri (she/elle): An illuminating and uplifting presentation, Judith. Thank you for giving us such wonderful resources and a helpful paradigm to use.
02:08:08 Xavier Justice: Thank you, Judith! Thxs, Bob
02:08:09 Linda Kruger: Outstanding session. Thank you Judith and Bob!
02:08:24 Alma Quiroz: Thank you.
02:08:25 Danielle Humphreys (she/her) WFCN: Thank you for this excellent presentation!
02:09:37 Heidi H Rogers: This was fantastic! Thank you for sharing your life experience and your model :)
02:09:52 Xavier Justice: well said
02:10:05 Danielle Humphreys (she/her) WFCN: Bob, yes
02:10:20 Tijana Vukicevic: Thank you!
02:10:26 Jul Bystrova: thank you!!
02:10:40 Sam Black: Thank you
