We remind all that this court, an Article III Court of Record, is a common law court and the rulings are made with full knowledge and application of Article VII of the Bill of Rights in the Constitution (1791) for the united States of America as stated here:

In Suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury, shall be otherwise re-examined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

The aforesaid nullification being held inviolate will serve justice.

Be it so ordered.
