JUDGING CRITERIA:

Script

Theme -- Adherence to the current year's theme is clearly and easily perceived.

Biblical Accuracy -- Story re-enactment will adhere to the details or principle revealed in the scriptures. Although some embellishment may be required for smooth dialogue, understanding action, etc., the facts as described in the Bible may not be altered.

Continuity -- Story line and dialogue should flow smoothly, particularly in the transition that must occur when a modern application is included.

Actors

Delivery -- Speaking and interaction between characters should be smooth and natural.

Poise -- Movement and reactions of the characters should be appropriate for the story and seem "real" to the observer.

Costumes and Setting

Costumes -- Clothing shall be appropriate for story and lend authenticity to roles characters portray.

Set Design -- Sets and props need not be elaborate. However, creative use of setting and props make the situation believable, and adds to the overall effect.

Technical Expertise

Clarity of Picture -- Characters and action should be clearly discerned, not fuzzy or indistinct. Transition between scenes or "takes" should be smooth.

Clarity of Sound -- All actors, sound effects, music, etc. should be clearly heard and understood.

Special Effects -- Creativity in lighting, camera angles and other different approaches can greatly enhance the production. It is important to note that editing out mistakes can also improve the final product.

Overall Effect – Audience Appeal; when the play is finished, notice the observers' response to the production as a whole.
