

Gail is one of the best resources I know of for anything that has to do with exotic animals. She is caring and compassionate and my #1 choice for go to when there's a baby animal in need of proper diet, learning to suck on a bottle or any other issue. I can't recommend her enough.

I had a baby giraffe once who was not willing to take a bottle. I told the owner that he can try all he wants but in a few days the baby will be dehydrated and weak, or we can call Gail Hedberg and get the baby on a bottle and the proper diet today. Gail was there that afternoon and the baby was sucking his bottles down a few hours later.

Gail is one stop shopping for all wild babies.
