March Meeting – Show and Tell

The March 20th program is our annual program devoted solely to sharing of woodworking ideas. This program provides members a chance to show their work and share methods and techniques.

Show 'n Tell has always been a favorite. We all seem to come away inspired to try new things and often we get an idea for a new project. Come and bring a friend.

I now have ten members signed up to bring in their projects and jigs. This is an opportunity for you all to see what other members are doing and at the same time get ideas for your future projects. Come and be entertained and learn. Hosted by Fred Ford

This month's raffle: Gift Certificate $ 50.00 (25.00 WoodCraft and a matching $25 from the club).

Presidents Corner

By Fred Ford

We had at least three new members sign up last month. We owe this to Cecil Raynor and his excellent program. There was a lot of interest in furniture repair from the public and three non members came forward to sign up for the workshop. They are now members.

I attended the furniture repair workshop by Paul Gianino and found it to be one of the best workshops I have attended. There are tricks to fixing old furniture that I had no experience with. I now feel much more confident in attaching a major reconstruction project on an old piece of furniture.

I have one piece of advice for you all. When the club schedules a Friday general meeting you should look hard at the following workshop. They are usually excellent. I have always delayed my sign up to make sure the newer members get a crack at the workshop openings. So far I always attend. Many of you are missing a real opportunity to get world class instruction.

Please keep bringing in visitors and pay attention to workshop.

April Meeting

April 17, 2007 - Violin Making

Sally Mullikin can't remember a time when woodworking and music were not a part of her life. When she was in college she decided to combine the two activities and become a violinmaker.

After earning a music degree she moved to Nottinghamshire, England to train at the Newark School of Violin Making. Now she works as a maker and restorer of instruments and bows at Pasewicz Stringed Instruments in Raleigh.

Her presentation will cover the centuries old process of making violins by hand. She will demonstrate several techniques and talk about her experiences in the trade.

Upcoming Meetings

May 15, 2007 - Making a Cabriole Leg

Cecil, who is a TWA member and current Vice President and Program Chair of the club, will demonstrate how to make a cabriole leg.

June 19, 2007 - Solving Problems With Jigs

At the Tuesday meeting the Program will be provided by various members showing their favorite Jigs. At the Saturday workshop selected members will lead workshop participants through the process of building their own jigs.

- Fred Ford. Memberships can be signed up for on a pro-rated basis. Currently, the cost of membership to complete the year is $15. Arlen Scott is liquidating his shop. There will be an announcement in the newsletter for the 7th and 14th of March to go out to buy lumber from his shop.
- Paul Rolfe. There will be several SawStop demonstrations on Saturday, March 10 at Klingspor.

Program: Cecil Raynor introduced Paul Gianino. Paul is a furniture maker and restored in Greenville, NC. Paul comes from a long line of woodworkers. He was apprenticed to his father and learned the trade of furniture restoration and repair. The family originated in Boston, and moved to NC about 14 years ago. Paul has a large shop with several independent woodworkers renting space there. He currently has an apprentice, Stuart Kent. Paul opens his shop to visiting groups. If you would like to visit, search for his address and directions on Google. He does not have a website or email, however. Paul presented a fascinating talk about his history on woodworking, various tips from the "old master" on glue-up and repair techniques. He had good information on hide glue techniques, which was of interest to several members.

Arlin Scott Liquidates His Shop

Many of you remember Arlin Scott who we all called Scott. He has declining health and is electing to liquidate his extensive holdings in hard and soft woods as well as his entire wood working shop.

His shop is a 40 x 80 foot two story building and it is full of wood and tools. He also has considerable wood stickered outside. Wood includes, but not limited to, red oak, white oak, poplar, hickory, and limited walnut and maple. There is also some construction lumber, some treated.

His workshop defies description. I am confident you will find something you want, you may even need it.

Major tools include a professional heavy duty table saw, jointer, new 3 hp vacuum system, scroll saw and others.

We are scheduling two Saturday dates for you to come and see what you can use and help Scott at the same time. The sale will run from 9:00 AM until noon. Dates are April 7 and April 14. Mark your calendar now. These are currently the only open dates because of Scott's health.

Prices will be set at about 35% of current market prices including volume discounts for lumber. One main goal is to clear the property so feel free to negotiate. Also remember that, besides helping ourselves, we also want to help Scott.

To get to Scott's take I 40 to Exit 266 (North of Chapel Hill). Take 86 south and cross over I 40. Go by the ramp to get back on I 40 and go another 200 feet to turn right on to Eubanks Road. Proceed 1.7 miles and turn left onto Rogers Road. Proceed 1.0 mile and turn left on to Puerfoy Drive. Proceed 0.5 mile and turn right on to Sandberg Lane. The third house on the left is 8012 and you are there.

If even with these excellent directions you can not find your way please call Jim Ulrick on his cell at 919-349-5992. Submitted by Fred Ford

Super-Sized Beam Compass

Received this jig suggestion via email: In the past, when I had to lay out a large circle or arc, I usually resorted to making a compass specifically for that application. Recently, however, when faced with the prospect of making yet another single-use compass, I decided to build this adjustable beam compass instead.

The compass consists of a 36" steel rule and two hardwood blocks (Photo, right). A pivot block, which holds a steel pin (nail), fits over the end of the rule (Illustration, below). And an adjustable marking block with a pencil slips over the edge of the rule. Machine screws, threaded into tapped holes in the wood, secure the blocks to the rule

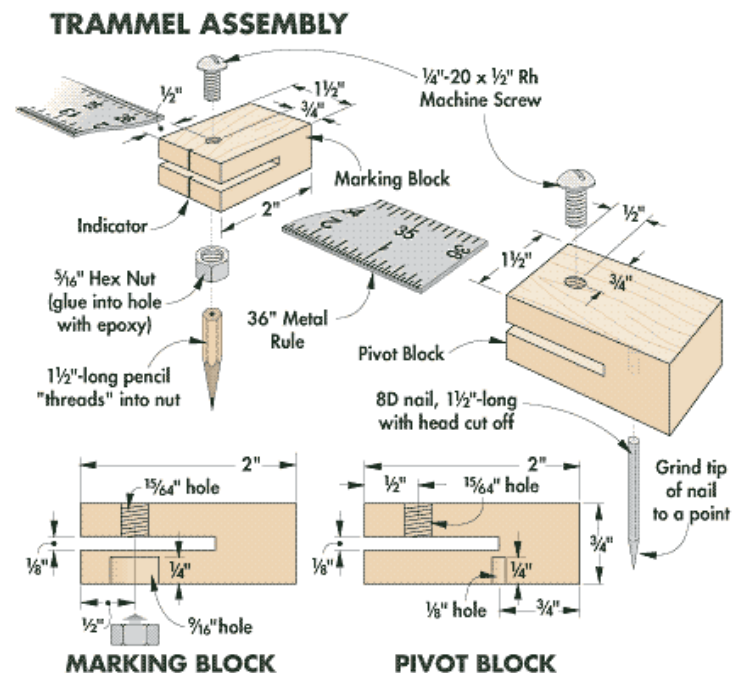

For safety, the blocks are cut from a single large blank. Rip the blank to width to match the rule (1 1/2" in my case). Then, using the table saw, cut a kerf in one edge to allow the blocks to fit over the rule. The depth of this kerf is sized so when the rule is bottomed out in the marking block, you can still see the increments (Inset Photo). Note how the indicator (a kerf made with a handsaw) is used to align the marking block on the rule.

Before cutting the blocks from the blank, drill holes for the pivot pin and a nut that holds a pencil stub. For accuracy, make sure the holes are aligned along the same centerline. Then cut the blocks, glue in the pivot pin and nut with epoxy, and "thread" the pencil into the nut.

Good woodworking,

Wyatt
