MEMBERS CORNER with Cecil Raynor
This month I begin a series of interviews with some of our TWA members including a few pictures of their woodworking workshop and projects.

Below is a Question (Q) and Answer (A) with long time TWA member and frequent TWA Workshop host, Cecil Raynor.

Q. Tell us about yourself; (Eg., Hometown, Background, Education, Profession, Other Interests)
A Although I have fond memories of working on the farm, I realized at an early age I wanted more for my life. Upon graduation from high school I went to a technical school in Atlanta and received an electronics certificate. This led to a job with AT&T in Adairsville, Ga., where I worked for 4 years.

But I still wanted more and was accepted in the School of Engineering at NC State University. After my second year at NC State I married my longtime sweetheart and we established our household and focused on my completion of college. But the draft came calling during my junior year, my student deferment gone due to my age I looked for ways to finish my college degree. The solution was the Navy, who said "Son, if you sign up with us you won't hear from us until you graduate and then we will send you to OCS in Pensacola, Fla." In 1969 I graduated from NC State with honors and a degree in Electrical Engineering.

True to its word the Navy sent me off to Pensacola where I was commissioned a brand new Ensign of the Navy in May 1969. Then I was off to Intelligence School to become a Naval Intelligence Officer and was subsequently attached to an electronic warfare squadron flying off aircraft carriers. I was deployed first on the USS John F. Kennedy to the Mediterranean and later to Viet Nam on the USS Enterprise. During this period my wife Gerry and I were the proud parents of two sons. After the Viet Nam deployment the Navy sent my family and I to Germany where I spent another four years in a joint service assignment, with mostly Army and Air Force personnel.

After a total of eight years in the Navy, due to the prospect of long at sea deployments, Gerry and I decided to return to civilian life. I was hired by Northern Telecom and subsequently spent 25 years with them in the telecommunications industry. During that time I managed a variety of functions including Engineering, Technology, Customer Service, Quality, Installation, Manufacturing and Major Project Management. I had assignments in Raleigh several times, and in Atlanta and Poland. Project Management assignments took me frequently to Canada, Europe and Asia.

Finally in 2001 I was able to retire and spend much more time with my family, and to begin serious woodworking. Last year my wife of forty-eight years lost her ten year battle with ovarian cancer. I am left with seven beautiful grand children who I am devoted to.

Q. How long have you been interested in woodworking?
A. I have been interested in woodworking since my early teens. But being without a father to show me the ropes, I never developed the needed skills until I was in my adult years. On the other hand as a kid I built many tree houses and looking back I marvel at the fact I was never seriously injured by falling from one of these makeshift constructions.

Q. What got you interested in working with wood?
A. I guess growing up on the farm got me interested in wood. Virtually everything is built from wood.

Q. How would you describe your woodworking interests or speciality?
A. Most of my woodworking life has been in what I call "square corner" woodworking, mostly cabinetry and furniture. I particularly like the Craftsman style but have experimented with a variety of styles. However, about three years ago I got interested in turning and it has taken over most of my woodworking time. I have been fortunate to be closely associated with a number of master turners who have helped with the development of my turning skills and enhances my enjoyment of making the sawdust in the "round."

Q. What are your favorite woodworking projects?
A. By far my favorite projects have been for my grandchildren. For my oldest son and his wife I made a crib, changing table and chest. Five of my grand children have used these items. For my second son and his wife I made a similar set and now their second child is in their crib.

For the past several years I have hosted a series of Toys for Tots workshops in my shop. We have made little red wagons, bi-planes, log trucks, and doll beds. I get great satisfaction from these.

Q. What awards or special recognizations have your woodworking projects received?
A. I have won several ribbons at the Woodworking Showcase hosted by Klingspore.

Q. What or who has influenced your woodworking interests?
A. In the "square corner" world I was influenced by Norm Abram's "New Yankee Workshop". In the "round" world my friend Frank Penta, who is a master turner and fine teacher, has influenced me most.

Q. What woodworking publications do you most frequently refer to or read?
A. Fine Woodworking, Popular Woodworking, Woodcraft Magazine, and several others.

Q. Describe your workshop: (Eg., Location, Size, Significant power tools, Important hand tools, Jigs frequently used, What is unique or unusual about your shop?)

Meeting Minutes

May 2013

The meeting came to order at approximately 7 pm with Steve Steinbeck presiding. Steve introduced our Guests and asked them their interests. He also reminded us members to support our sponsors.

Announcements:

- Steve is looking for a volunteer to help with updating the clubs website and the Facebook page. If anyone is willing to help out please contact Steve.
- Pete was not here tonight to run the Auction so there will not be an auction tonight. But Steve Announced that Pete will be purchasing a 250 dollar gift certificate from the Klingspore store. He will be selling 50 tickets at 10. Dollars each, to benefit the Toys for Tots program. Pete is also looking for your unwanted tools that can be auctioned off for the benefit of the toys For Tots program.
- Kay Baker reminded the membership that dues are now due and of the upcoming book distribution. The book distribution was a great success with the members last year and Kay think these years will be an equal success.
- Fred Ford reminded everyone about the upcoming Toys for Tots Kick off picnic in July. Please make sure you let him know if you are coming.

Show & Tell:

Mark Kegler brought in a table saw blade for show and tell. A twenty inch table saw blade. Now that's a blade! He told everyone that he was cutting 6 inch thick hard maple with the blade. Without any problem, it sliced through the maple like a hot knife through soft butter.

Program:

This month presentation was by Bruce Bradford, Bruce is a custom furniture maker based in Winstom-Salem. He creates his custom furniture in the Sam Maloof still with a touch of Bruce Bradford thrown in for good measure. Bruse reviewed some of the time saving techniques he uses when building a chair.

PRESIDENTS MESSAGE CONT.

A. I have over 1000 square feet of cluttered space in my basement workshop. My Delta Unisaw table saw and my Powermatic lathe are my go to pieces of machinery. In addition I have a 15" planer, 8" jointer, chop saw, radial saw and a variety of sanders, grinders, routers, drill press, drills, other saws and numerous hand tools.

Q. What is your 'must have' or most important; (a)power tool and (b) hand tool?
A. My Delta Unisaw is my most important power tool (Powermatic lathe is second). I admit I am a power tool junkie and do little with hand tools.

Q. What woodworking project(s) are you currently working on?
A. In the square world I am working on some replacements drawers for a friend's jewelry chest and in the round world I am working on a large bowl for a friend to give as a wedding present.

Q. Why did you join and continue to be a member of the TWA?
A. First, I enjoy the social aspect of TWA. The presentations and workshops are the heart and soul of the organization.

Q. How long have you been a member of TWA?
A. I'm not sure when I joined TWA but it must have been at least two decades ago. I remember meeting at a High school over in Durham, Bechem Brothers Hardwood out near the Angus Barn and Cary High School. Perhaps that can better pinpoint how long I've been a member. During this time I lived in Poland for almost two years and maintained my membership, although I missed most of the meetings during that period.

Q. What offices or positions have you had with the TWA?
A. Vice President therefore in charge of programs.

Q. What are some of you favorite TWA programs or workshops?
A. One of my favorite programs was by a young woman who is a violin maker. Among my favorite workshops were the finishing workshops.

Q. Have you hosted a TWA workshop(s), if so, please describe the highlights?
A. Finishing (at least 2 or more), Morris Chair, T4T (several), Leg Vice (2), Furniture Design, Jig (at least 2)

Q. What is one thing about yourself that the TWA members may not know?
A. I built a log cabin in the mountains of North Carolina (acted as general contractor) and did most of the interior finish work, including kitchen and bathroom cabinets, window and door trim and tile work in all bathrooms.

Q. What is your; woodworking goal, next tool purchase, or woodworking project?
A. In the square world my next major project is headboards for the beds and a small table on wheels for the kitchen and several pieces of furniture, all for my log cabin.

As always your comments, suggestions, and recommendations are welcome; just send me an email: stevejsteinbeck@gmail.com.

Look forward to having you join us at the next TWA meeting on Friday, June 21@ 7pm to learn from our special guest Chuck Bender. Please bring a friend who shares our passion for woodworking.

Now ~ ~ let's go make some shavings ~ ~

28th year Toys for Tots Kick-off

A BBQ at Bond Park will start the year. The Kiwanis Shelter on Saturday July 20, 2013 is our destination. Detailed driving directions will be emailed to all that sign up for the event. There will be no charge to attend, but sign up is required.

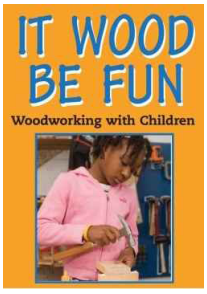
All spouses and children are encouraged to attend. There is a large playground just a stones throw form the shelter that can be used before the meeting and maybe after dinner if the children get restless and would like to play instead of seeing all of the show and tell.

Pete Hodges will be preparing the dinner and I will be helping but I don't think anyone would like the desert we might put together. Therefore I am going to be asking folks to bring a desert to share. Maybe some of the fine recipes on our newsletters will show up. Past TWA events tell me we have a few really good bakers amongst us. I am looking forward to the sharing of your talents again.

AGENDA:

5:30 - 6:30 Set up Committee only
6:30 - 6:45 BUSINESS MEETING - Steve Steinbeck will conduct TWA business after which a Plaque will be presented to TWA by Gunnery Sergeant Swope of Marine Corp. Sgt. Swope will share with us some information about the Nation wide Toys for Tot Program.
6:45 - 7:30 DINNER - Invocation given by Tommy Revelle followed by barbecue, beans, potatoes, string beans, coal slaw, tea, and desert.
7:30 - 8:15 SHOW & TELL - Hal Brown, Hugh Fish, Bob Gabor, and, Cecil Raynor, some of our best woodworkers, will share with you their woodworking methods.
8:15 - 8:30 CLEAN UP Clear tables and remove all personal items. All lend a hand and we are off to home.

Chairman of the TWA Toys for Tots Program:
Fred Ford



Woodworking Kits for Kids are a great way to bring the family together while making education fun.

It's a great way to spend time with your children/grandchildren as they learn new skills. The use of real tools to build projects is challenging and interactive, encouraging critical thinking through hands on activities.

With each new project children increase their learning ability and advance to new levels in woodworking, craft and design. Play time turns into valuable lessons while making memories with family.

Woodworking Ideas & Good Plan Selection

Woodworking is a demanding but rewarding process. Like many processes it will go more smoothly if a good plan is decided on before beginning. There are many plans for bringing many types of woodworking ideas to life. Some plans are simple and easy to follow for basic ideas, while more complex projects may require complicated and demanding plans. Whatever the project, it must be approached with a good idea of the finished product and the plan for getting there.
