TWA Newsletter

Next Meeting: Thursday, Feb. 23, 2017, 7:30 pm

Location: Crafts Center Commons
201 Jensen Drive, Raleigh, NC

Speaker: Dr. Russell Flinchum of NC State College of Design

Topic: Ideation in Wood

NCSU/TWA Joint Meeting

Woodworking has come a long way since the days when budding crafters were driven predominantly by historical style and joinery techniques. No longer are they confined to a traditional narrative. Instead, digitization along with the spontaneity of conceptual ideation has changed how we create. It's a new world where Google and You-Tube are integral to the master-apprentice relation!

Come join us on the evening of February 23 for this special presentation led by Dr. Russell Flinchum of NC State College of Design. A great opportunity for woodworkers, artists and entrepreneurs; come participate in this discussion offered through the support of the Triangle Woodworkers Association.

George G. Thomas – Director
NC State College of Design

Note the change from the usual time and location of our regular meetings

Directions to the meeting: From Western Blvd. exit on to Pullen Road (next to Pullen Park). Go about 0.3 mile and turn left on to Dunn Ave. In a few hundred feet turn left onto Jensen Drive. The Craft Center is on your left and a large parking garage is on your right. Park in the garage. If you would like more help, contact your TWA Host Fred Ford at 919 348-5331.

TWA GENERAL MEMBERSHIP MEETING—JANUARY 17, 2017

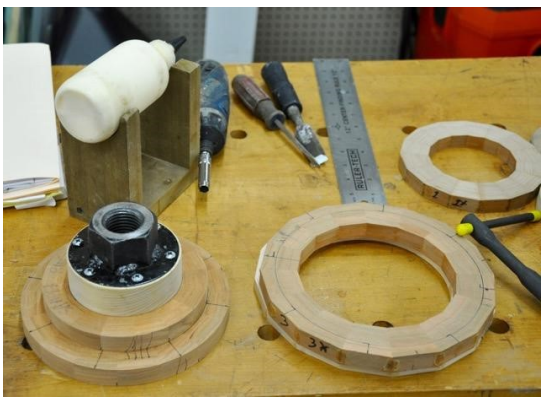
(meeting minutes: Hugh and Pat Fish; photos: Steve Steinbeck)

George Mills called the meeting to order at 7:00PM.

Several new members introduced themselves as did two visitors.

John Shaw from Knightdale announced that he had different widths of both walnut and cherry for sale. Member Ed Mastin has woodworking tools and items for sale and asked interested members to contact him directly.

Alex Knittel, our Searstone contact, asked the group if TWA wanted to commit to Searstone hosting our special Toys for Tots dinner meetings in 2017 –the Toys for Tots kick-off meeting in June and the presentation of the toys to the Marines in December. The group voted to support this commitment.



The March meeting will be held on Friday, March 24, where Tom McLaughlin of Epic Woodworking in New Hampshire will be the guest speaker. He will discuss furniture design processes and specialized woodworking techniques applicable to a wide range of furniture designs. Tom will also conduct a 2-day Furniture Design workshop on Saturday and Sunday, March 25 and 26, at Klingspor's Woodworking Shop. The cost of the 2-day workshop is $100.00 for TWA members.

A raffle for a Woodcraft gift certificate was conducted.

Charlie Stickley, a local woodworker, was the guest speaker for the evening. Charlie, who has been a woodworker for over 40 years, started creating segmented pieces seven years ago and recently produced his 200 th turned piece. His program was entitled "Segmented Bowl and Vase Turning-From Simple to Complex". He covered all aspects of creating a segmented vessel. Charlie provided us with Web addresses of sites which offer tips, tools and apps for producing the proper sized segments for making the bowls and vessels. The sample bowls that he brought and showed to the group were really outstanding and beautiful. Many thanks to Charlie for an outstanding program and sharing his superb talents.

UPCOMING MEETINGS

FRIDAY, MARCH 24, 7:30 PM

Epic Woodworking

Speaker: Tom McLaughlin

Tom McLaughlin is a nationally recognized woodworker with a NC connection. Tom is from Canteberry, NH, where he is part of the New England Woodworkers Guild. He apprenticed in Rocky Mount, NC 26 years ago. Tom's furniture designs are unique and artistic, as well as being examples of expert woodworking. His design process, which will be one of the emphases of his presentation, is applicable to a wide range of woodworking projects. He has been featured on national TV and is currently involved with both online and in-person educational ventures in woodworking. Most of his current work is commissioned pieces. His website is Epic Woodworking, where you can find examples of his work and activities.

He will conduct a two-day workshop on design processes and unique techniques he uses in his woodworking on Saturday and Sunday, March 25 and 26. The workshop will include both demonstrations and hands-on activities. It will be held at Klingspor on Capital Blvd., thanks to Paul Rolfe and his staff.

Any further information will be posted on the TWA website, as well as an option for signing up for the workshop. Cost for the 2-day workshop will be $100 for TWA members.

Host: Roger Sanwald
