

At their best, live performing arts provide us with a real, yet magical, escape. This is especially true of ballet, where no words are spoken and yet, by the power of movement and music, emotions both strong and subtle are communicated between the performers and audience.

Art is a luxury we need to allow ourselves.

Please take a moment to consider supporting the young artists of Commonwealth Ballet by becoming a Friend of CBC. Or help bring theater dance to a disadvantaged family by making a donation to Culture4Kidz. And take a little time for yourself to enjoy the energy, color, and emotion of a most lively art – dance!

CHIP MORRIS
Artistic Director

As we celebrate our 27th season, Commonwealth Ballet continues to champion the arts through affordable performances, community programs, library readings and volunteer opportunities. Again this year we include another Sensory and Family-Friendly performance of The Nutcracker, opening our work to a whole new community. Join with us in supporting the art of dance.
