Western Cave Conservancy
Notes to the Financial Statements
Year Ending December 31, 2009

Note 1 – Organization

The Western Cave Conservancy, organized in 2002 and incorporated on August 17, 2002, is a not-for-profit public charity corporation dedicated to protecting caves primarily through direct purchase of land and easements.

The Conservancy is under the direction of an eight-member volunteer Board of Directors. The Directors were selected from among persons interested in protecting caves, and consideration was given to achieving a diverse, cooperative, experienced, and energetic group. Day-to-day operations are conducted by the Officers, consisting of President, Vice-President, Treasurer, and Secretary.

All of the Conservancy’s operations are carried out by unpaid volunteers, which keeps expenses low and ensures maximum use of donated funds.

As of December 31, 2009 the Directors and Officers were:

Name and Address	Title and average hours per week devoted to position
Rolf L. Aalbu, PhD 18 Sea Lion Court Sacramento, CA 95831	Vice Pres / Director 2 hrs/week

Note 2 – Significant accounting policies

Method of accounting: The accompanying financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, and include the accounts maintained by and directly under control of the Conservancy. Where statements on a cash basis are required, they have been computed by making appropriate adjustments to the accrual-based records.

Financial Statement Presentation: The Conservancy reports information regarding its financial position and activities in three classes of net assets: unrestricted net assets, temporarily restricted net assets, and permanently restricted net assets. Temporary restrictions are restrictions on the use of donated funds (imposed by a donor) that the Conservancy has a reasonable expectation of meeting. Permanent restrictions are those in which a donor stipulates that a contribution be maintained permanently, but allows the Conservancy to spend all or part of the income derived from the donated assets.

Cash: The Conservancy maintains its primary checking account at Bank of America which is insured by an agency of the federal government up to $100,000. In addition, the Conservancy uses an interest-bearing money market account (also insured) at Nexity Bank. Most cash funds are held in these insured accounts. Finally, the Conservancy maintains a merchant account with First Regional Bank for the purpose of processing credit card transactions, and an additional merchant account with PayPal for the same purpose. These latter two accounts are uninsured.

Cash equivalents: For the purposes of the Statement of Cash Flows, the Conservancy considers all cash and other highly liquid investments with initial maturities of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

Investments: The Conservancy had no investments this year.

Land, Building, Equipment and Depreciation: Land, buildings and equipment are stated at cost or, in the case of donated property, at fair value at the time of the gift, less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation is provided on a straight-line basis over the assets' estimated useful lives. Normal repairs and maintenance are recorded as unrestricted expenses. In the case of property held for investment or conservation purposes, no depreciation is applied.

Contributions: Contributions received and unconditional promises to give are recorded as unrestricted, temporarily restricted, or permanently restricted support depending on the existence of donor restrictions and the nature of restrictions, if they exist.

Contributions are recognized when the donor makes a binding promise to give to the Conservancy that is, in substance, unconditional. Contributions restricted by the donor are reported as increases in unrestricted net assets if the restrictions expire in the fiscal year in which the contributions are recognized. Otherwise donor restricted contributions are reported as increases in temporarily or permanently restricted net assets depending on the nature of the restrictions. When a restriction is satisfied, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets. If there is no longer a reasonable expectation of satisfying the restriction, the donor is given the option of either removing the restriction or obtaining a refund of the contribution.

Income Taxes: For income from contributions, the Conservancy is exempt from federal and state income taxes under Section 501(C)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. However, the Conservancy must pay income taxes on "unrelated business income", that is, income not directly related to the Conservancy's exempt purposes. The Conservancy files all appropriate informational and tax returns with federal and California agencies, as well as agencies in other states in which the conservancy engages in significant fundraising activities and that require such returns (currently only Arizona and Oregon.)

Sales Tax: The collection and payment of California sales tax is not reflected as income and expenses in these statements. Rather, sales tax is considered a transfer from the buyer to the state with the Conservancy acting only as intermediary. This is in alignment with the way QuickBooks accounting software models sales tax, easing verification that the financial statements match the Conservancy's electronic records.

Note 3 – Program Expenses

During 2008 the Conservancy incurred many program-related expenses. The programs listed in this report are as follows:

1. Weller Preserve: In March of 2006, the Conservancy purchased approx. 15 acres in Amador County, California to secure permanent protection for Rippled Cave, a significant cave on the property which is used by many local cavers as well as search and rescue personnel. The property was later renamed the “Weller Natural Preserve” in honor of its history.

In relation to this property in 2009 the Conservancy settled accounts payable for the significant costs of replacing the dilapidated building that had been present at the time of purchase. The bulk of these costs were paid out-of-pocket by a volunteer but weren't reimbursed by December 31, 2008, and thus were carried over as accounts payable and paid in 2009. The Weller Preserve program will continue into the foreseeable future, though expenses are anticipated to be much less in future years.

2. Newsletter: Members of the Conservancy receive a periodic newsletter containing educational articles, updates on the Conservancy's activities, and calls to action. Only one issue was published in 2009. The calls to action encourage activities beneficial to protecting caves, such as protecting bats from white nose syndrome, looking for unusual species of cave-adapted invertebrates, and writing letters to help protect caves in Nevada and California. This program is likely to continue.
3. Windeler Cave: In 2007 the Conservancy successfully negotiated a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) with the U.S. Forest Service (USFS) to manage Windeler Cave in the Stanislaus National Forest. Significant costs were incurred in 2009 to improve security (e.g. gate construction) for Windeler cave, per agreement with the USFS. These costs were offset to a large extent by previous fundraising efforts that had been gathered into a temporarily restricted fund in prior years. This project is likely to continue into the foreseeable future.

Note 4 – Satisfaction of Program Restrictions

Fundraising began in 2007 for a fund dedicated to rehabilitation of the gate and other maintenance costs related to Windeler Cave. The $2,500 raised was placed in a temporarily restricted fund, and as mentioned above the Windeler expenses of 2009 exceeded the fund amount, removing the restriction on that money.

Note 5 – Donation to other nonprofit

The Board of Directors, in response to the dire affliction called "White Nose Syndrome" (WNS) that is affecting bats in caves in the eastern part of the U.S., voted to donate $1,000 to the WNS Rapid Response Fund maintained by the National Speleological Society, another 501(c)(3) not-for-profit corporation dedicated to the "study, exploration, and conservation of cave and karst resources."

Note 6 – Fundraising expenses

In 2009 the Conservancy conducted a member renewal campaign but otherwise did little in the way of fundraising mail-outs, and did not host a fundraising dinner. Fundraising expenses are likely to increase somewhat in 2010 due to an anticipated membership drive.

Note 7 – Insurance

In 2009 the Conservancy reduced its insurance expenditures by eliminating a redundant policy for volunteers insurance, but retaining the General Liability and Directors and Officers policies. It is hoped that costs can be further reduced in future years by finding lower cost insurer(s).
