HE'S got a successful sporting career and a beautiful woman on his arm, but Australian cricketer Shane Warne was Friday hoping to conquer the music charts.

Indian musician Arnie B has released a song about the spin bowler, titled King of Spin, to coincide with the launch of Warne's clothing range on the subcontinent.

With lyrics including, "He's got the cool Aussie style, with the funky profile. You just follow the Twitter king," the Bollywood-style song even features Warne himself throwing in some cricket terminology, such as "howzat" and "caught and bowled."

Warne tweeted that the song was getting "played everywhere" in India, where he captains the Rajasthan Royals in the Indian Premier League.

The 41-year-old, who is dating British actress Elizabeth Hurley, challenged Aussie radio stations to get on the bandwagon and play the track.

Warne, considered one of the greatest spin bowlers of all time, will be hoping he can mirror the success of former Australian teammate Brett Lee.

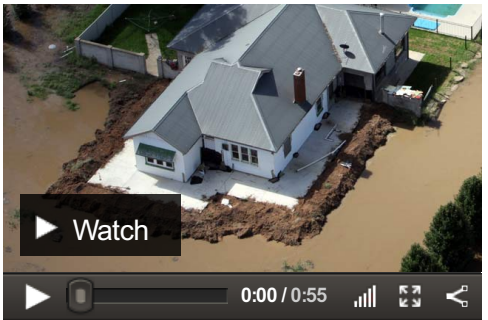

The fast bowler teamed up with Indian music diva Asha Bhosle in 2006 to record a duet called "You're The One For Me," with the song peaking at number two on the Indian and South African charts.
