REQUIREMENTS

The State of South Carolina requires that all personnel of animal shelters, welfare agencies, or wildlife agencies who perform euthanasia be certified before performing this duty. It also requires that once certified, individuals must take a re-certification course every five (5) years. It has been more than five (5) years since this became a law in SC, so many individuals may find that they need to be re-certified.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

To train and certify personnel in the various euthanasia techniques; to instruct personnel in the physiology of euthanasia; to promote the concepts of compassion and humaneness in euthanasia for shelter animals; to learn how to recognize and deal with your personal euthanasia related stress; to increase professionalism within the animal welfare field; to provide a valid certification program as required by SC State law for euthanasia technicians.
