Catalog Description

An examination of influential persons, ideas, movements, and events that have decisively shaped Christianity through the centuries from apostolic times to the present.

Course Narrative & Rationale

The primary purpose of this course is to provide students with basic familiarity with the historical development of the central doctrines, practices, and institutions of the Christian Church. It is assumed that students in this course have little or no previous exposure to systematic study of the history of Christianity.
This course specifically addresses the goals and objectives of each of the NTS degree programs, which call for students to develop an understanding of the history and heritage of the Christian faith and familiarity with the context in which ministry takes place today.

Degree Objectives

Students in this course will achieve these NTS Degree Program Objectives:

MDiv

3. The development of wisdom and discernment through engagement with the intellectual challenge of the literature of the Christian faith, by the critical, scholarly study of the history and theology of Christianity, and of the literature and practices of Christian spirituality, ethics and ministry.

6. The investigation of human society, thought and culture in order to articulate clear and coherent views of the context of the mission of the Church, and to develop an understanding of the Church as the community of faith with a passion for the gospel engaging in mission to different cultures.

MACE

1. Appropriate and enhance the student’s ecclesial understanding of the Word of God, the heritage of the faith, the doctrines of the church, and the fellowship of believers, sufficient to enable him or her to deepen a personal commitment to God and His Church and to inform a passionate, vital, and redemptive ministry.

MAICS

2. Graduates will demonstrate the integration of theological convictions and cultural sensitivity in order to foster individual and social transformation.

MA(TS) GENERAL ACADEMIC TRACK

1. Students will develop a comprehensive knowledge of the major theological disciplines and their interrelationships.

2. Students will demonstrate the ability to use the theological disciplines to reflect on and engage the world as informed, thinking, Christian persons.

MA(TS) RESEARCH TRACK

1. Students will gain specialized knowledge in designated theological disciplines as a basis for further graduate studies.

Course Outcomes

1. Students will gain a knowledge of the basic facts necessary for understanding the broad outline of the history of Christianity from New Testament times to the present, especially the development of major doctrines and creeds. This will be accomplished through assigned reading in the textbooks and assessed by the weekly data quizzes and the final exam.

2. Students will develop ability to accurately tell the story of the Church in broad outline, and to identify and describe the significance of major persons, ideas, movements and events in that story. This will be accomplished through course lectures and assigned reading in the textbooks, and will be assessed by the comprehensive essay exam, the weekly data quizzes, and the final exam.
3. Students will gain insight into the dynamic, ongoing interaction between Church and world, Christianity and culture, which characterizes the life of the Church in history. This will be accomplished through course lectures, assigned reading in the textbooks, assigned movies, and will be assessed by the comprehensive essay exam, weekly online discussion forum posts, and assigned movie reviews.

4. Students will develop ability to describe how the Church has implemented its mission in the world throughout the centuries. This will be accomplished through course lectures, assigned reading in the textbooks, and assigned movies, and will be assessed by the comprehensive essay exam, weekly online discussion forum posts, and assigned movie reviews.

5. Students will acquire a growing ability to use the story of Christianity as a resource for understanding the context of contemporary Christian life and ministry. This will be accomplished through course lectures and assigned reading in the textbooks, and will be assessed by the comprehensive essay exam and weekly online discussion forum posts.

6. Students will acquire resources to enter into critical and fruitful conversation with the past in order to appropriate the historical heritage of the Church as a resource for responsible and faithful ministry in the present and future. This will be accomplished through course lectures, assigned reading in the textbooks, and assigned movies, and will be assessed by the comprehensive essay exam and weekly online discussion forum posts.

Required Texts & Course Materials

Course Outline

I. The Historical Study of Christianity – why we do it, how we do it, and how it fits into the larger endeavor of theological reflection in the Church

II. The “Jesus Movement” Makes the Transition from Apostolic to Post-Apostolic Times – the context, challenges, and leaders of this era

III. The Church Expands into New Regions and Cultures – the challenges to carefully define its faith and practices

IV. The “Outlaw Cult” Becomes the “Establishment Church” – the opportunities and pitfalls of success

V. The Church in the Middle Ages (I) – the growing importance of monasticism; the deepening division between Eastern and Western Christianity; the importance of ongoing doctrinal debate and the development of new forms of scholarship

VI. The Church in the Middle Ages (II) – the institutional “hardening” of the Church; the rise of Scholasticism; popular piety; early impulses toward reform of the Church

VII. The Reform of the Church: Renewal and Division – the development of reform movements in various parts of the European Church, the persons and issues involved and the major results.

VIII. European Christianity in the Post-Reformation Era: Conflict, Expansion, Adaptation – religious warfare; the role of Christianity in the exploration and settlement of “New Worlds;” new forms of Christian life and practice

IX. The Age of Reason and Revival – the development of the Enlightenment and Pietism

X. Christianity in a “Revolutionary” and “Modern” World – the Spirit of revolution in Europe and North America; Christianity in North America; the rise of “secularism” and its consequences for Christianity

XI. Christianity in a “Modern” and “Post-Modern” World (I) – the “modern missionary movement;” modern “protest” and reform movements within Christianity (e.g., Pentecostal and Charismatic forms)

XII. Christianity in a “Modern” and “Post-Modern” World (II) – intellectual and ideological challenges to Christianity; the impinging “faith worlds” of today; the “shifting” geographical and cultural world of contemporary Christianity; course wrap up

Course Assignments & Requirements

1. Class Participation – consistent, thoughtful participation in class discussion and small group work. Class participation is absolutely essential in the online environment. To assist in this process, a Moodle discussion component will be a central feature of the course. Students are required to post responses to discussion questions relating to the assigned reading, the weekly lectures, videos or other assigned supplementary resources, or to brief reading reviews prepared by other members of the class – as instructed each week in that particular unit of the course.

You are required to make online posts and responses on at least three different days each week. This means that you must make your assigned posts over the span of at least three separate days during the week. You cannot get by simply by logging in once on a Wednesday night, making your assigned original posts and then your assigned responses, all within the period of an hour or so, and then be done with the Forum for that week! You must spread out your assigned comments over at least three separate days and three separate login occasions.

A quality post is one that begins a new topic, critical reflection on another person’s post, or one that moves the discussion in a new direction. Good posted responses to discussion questions and other assignments should normally be at least 100 words in length, and it is preferable that these not exceed 150 words. Responses to the comments, observations, suggestions – or written reading reviews – of fellow classmates should normally be at least 50 words in length, and preferably will not exceed 125 words. Generally speaking, you will not be penalized for making long posts unless it becomes a problem, although as a courtesy to your classmates (since everyone has to read all of the posts) it is helpful to be as concise as possible. A good post will make substantive contributions to the dialogue.

It is expected that your posts will be written with good grammar and correct spelling, and you should proofread them for mistakes before submitting them. Avoid using abbreviations and codes that are sometimes used in other types of online communications, and always be polite and respectful in your comments.

All online postings need to be posted as instructed by the deadline – normally 11:55 p.m. US Central Time – in order to receive full credit. Late postings results in a 15% deduction daily (which begins one minute after the deadline) unless you have a compelling excuse submitted in advance of the posting deadline. Due to the progressive nature of online learning, required postings must be completed the week assigned for any credit to be given. No postings will be graded after the week for which they were assigned.

It is expected that each student will read all of the posts made by each other student in the course. In a traditional classroom, students learn valuable information about the subject both from the professor’s lecture as well as from classroom dialogue between students and instructor and between fellow students. The Forum on Moodle is the online counterpart to this valuable class interaction. It is often the case that valuable clarifications and insights come up during this online dialogue. Although you are only required to post a certain number of new threads and replies, as outlined in each week’s assignment, it is still expected that you will read all of the posts and comments in each week’s Forum.
(Often this will mean checking at the end of the week or the beginning of the following week to read posts your classmates made after your last online login.) You are strongly encouraged to read all new posts nearly every day. You are welcome to make additional brief comments to additional posts, above and beyond the assigned requirement, if you wish.

NOTE: It is understood that there will be times when “life gets in the way” or when you have a ministry crisis. These situations will be taken into consideration when they are communicated honestly and promptly to the professor. Generally one such situation per student is allowed during the semester if requested. However, a pattern of personal “crises” is unacceptable.

This requirement accomplishes Course Outcomes #3, #4, #5, and #6.

2. Completion of all assigned reading and other learning activities.

This requirement accomplishes Course Outcomes #1, #2, #3, #4, #5, and #6. It also meets all three of the Church of the Nazarene COSAC competencies.
3. Reasonable mastery of assigned materials – to be evaluated by the instructor through data quizzes, reading and video reviews, and regular informed participation in online discussion.

This requirement accomplishes Course Outcomes #1, #2, #3, #4, #5, and #6. It also meets all three of the Church of the Nazarene COSAC competencies.

4. Reading and reporting in writing on the book Why Study the Past?: The Quest for the Historical Church by Rowan Williams. Your written review should critically evaluate the book and discuss how it has affected your thinking about the study of the history of Christianity, and should be approximately 500 words in length.

This requirement accomplishes Course Outcomes #3 and #6.

5. Watching and reporting in writing on two videos – Luther and The Mission. You should view each video at the time assigned in the weekly lessons, and then write a brief (approximately 500 word) written personal review. The review of Luther should evaluate its historical faithfulness as well as its dramatic structure and impact. The review of The Mission should especially note how it raises various issues encountered in our study of the history of Christianity.

This requirement accomplishes Course Outcomes #3, #4, and #6.

6. Data Quizzes – There will be ten (10) weekly data quizzes designed to assess your familiarity with the major persons, ideas, events, and developments highlighted in the assigned sections of the text Introduction to the History of Christianity. These quizzes will be administered each week from Week 3 through Week 13.

This requirement accomplishes Course Outcomes #1 and #2. It also meets all three of the Church of the Nazarene COSAC competencies.

7. Term Essay Projects – Students will write two (2) academic research papers. These essays will involve researching some of the major developments, issues, problems, or controversies in the history of Christianity. These essays should exhibit careful academic research, critical analysis, and thoughtful reflection. A list of questions from which you may choose will be made available by Week 5 of the course.

Each essay should be approximately 1500 words in length, and should be written in good academic form. These essays will require you to go beyond course texts and other introductory and survey material to use primary sources, monographs, and journal articles. These essays will be due no later than Thursday of Week 14.

This requirement accomplishes Course Outcomes #2, #3, #4, #5, and #6.

8. Final Exam – There will be a Final Exam that will assess your mastery of the data you have learned throughout the semester. This will be a timed exam, and will be administered during Week 14.

This requirement accomplishes Course Outcomes #1 and #2. It also meets all three of the Church of the Nazarene COSAC competencies.

Method for Submitting Assignments

The course is organized by weekly units. All materials and assignments needed for each week’s instruction are made available online in that week’s component of the course. This includes lectures, assignments, written reports, online postings, and examinations/quizzes. There are appropriate sites and links provided within the units for each week of the course for you to submit written assignments, access and read the written assignments of your classmates, post online comments, etc.

Form and Style Expectations

It is expected that writing assignments will be submitted in good style and format, and will be free from grammatical, spelling, and typographical errors. The quality of your written work will have an impact on the grade you receive. You may format your essays in accordance with the conventions of Kate Turabian’s A Manual for Writers of Term Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, or the Chicago Manual of Style. All written assignments should be double spaced and use a standard 12 point font.

Inclusive Language

NTS is committed to the equality of women and men. Recognizing that people have often used the English language in ways that imply the exclusion or inferiority of women, NTS urges students, faculty, and staff to avoid sexist language in public discourse, in classroom discussions, and in their writings. All written work presented to meet course requirements must use gender inclusive language.

Policy Regarding Late Work & Missed Exams

Reading and video reviews are due no later than 11:55 p.m. of the day they are due (see also instructions under “online postings and responses” above). Late reading and video reviews are reduced a half letter grade for every three days (or portion thereof) overdue. Data quizzes must be taken at the time they are made available on Moodle. Missed data quizzes may not be made up at another time.
Course Grading

1. Consistent, informed online participation in the class (see specific expectations above and in the weekly units of the course) counts for 30% of the final grade. Evaluation and determination of what counts as a substantive Forum post is at the discretion of the instructor. Please remember that consistently reading all posts made by other students in the class is a factor in your overall online participation grade. Online participation will be evaluated and graded at three specific points in the course and students will receive feedback on their participation at these times. Participation assessment will be made at the end of week 4, at the end of week 9, and at the end of the course.

2. The three reading and video reviews combined count for 15% of the final grade.

3. The ten weekly data quizzes combined count for 25% of the final grade.

4. The two term essay projects combined count for 20% of the final grade.

5. The Final Exam counts for 10% of the final grade.

The instructor is committed to providing grading feedback within one week of date assignments are due.

For all written work, the following criteria are employed in evaluation and grading: 1) “A” quality work – is superior in every way – writing is clear, essentially without errors in syntax, spelling, word usage, etc. – content evidences a high level of reflection, insight, and originality; 2) “B” quality work – is above average – writing is generally clear, with few errors in syntax, spelling, word usage, etc. – content evidences careful preparation and meets the expectations of the assignment; 3) “C” quality work – average – writing is adequate, but may have significant errors – content is adequate – meets the minimum expectations of the assignment, but lacks insight and originality; 4) “D” quality work – below average – writing is poor, marred with excessive errors – content evidences lack of insight or lack of understanding of the assigned material; 5) “F” quality work – failure to do satisfactory work – work evidences haste, lack of careful preparation, lack of basic understanding of the assigned material.

In accordance with the provisions of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, NTS is committed to providing students with disabilities the opportunity to participate and benefit from its programs and activities. Accordingly NTS will make reasonable modifications to its programs and activities to accommodate otherwise qualified students with disabilities, unless such modifications would impose an undue burden on the operation of the particular program or activity or would fundamentally alter the nature or purpose of the program or activity. Students needing accommodations should contact the Office of the Registrar. They also should contact the instructor no later than the end of the first class session to discuss learning needs and adaptive strategies that have been beneficial for the student in the past.
