365m | 365 DAYS IN MISSION, a DIPLOMA IN CROSS-CULTURAL MINISTRIES, is a collaborative effort between NTS, participating universities, mission agencies, and individuals desiring a "hands on" cross-cultural learning experience. Students earn 24 hours of graduate school credit, and spend 10 months studying and ministering in a cross-cultural learning environment under the supervision of trained theological, formational, and cultural mentors.

365m STUDENTS INCLUDE:
• University graduates who are called into cross-cultural ministry as their primary profession, and who would like to use this opportunity as a bridge to a NTS Master's Degree or as a starting point for a career in cross-cultural ministry.
• University graduates who are planning to pastor in the U.S. and would like to enhance their cross-cultural skills.
• University graduates who might not have a theology degree, but who are interested in having a cross-cultural learning experience that will enhance their profession and facilitate their understanding of ministry with people of another culture.

THE 24 CREDIT HRS EARNED VIA 365m CAN BE APPLIED TOWARD A MASTER'S DEGREE AT NTS

LEARNING SITES:

NEW YORK CITY
The most culturally diverse city in the world is the newest learning site for 365m. Students in New York City can choose between congregation-based or NGO-based learning tracks. Emphasis within both tracks will be made on multicultural urban ministry that seeks spiritual, social and cultural transformation in the city.

BRITISH ISLES
We are excited that 365m is returning to Postmodern Europe as a learning site. Students will learn how congregations in the Republic of Ireland and the United Kingdom engage their changing context. Emphasis will be made on interaction between culture and the mission of the church in congregational settings.

"In a district licensing interview, I was privileged to hear an NTS student who had just completed the 365m program. I noticed how his global experience on the field had shaped his heart and sharpened his mind in a way not often found in other programs. Hands-on experience and prolonged immersion in a cross-cultural setting prepared him in deep and holistic ways to be a blessing to the global Church and the world, no matter where he might serve. I found myself excited for this particular student and for the Church who will need his gifts as we learn to live in an increasingly diverse and changing world. As a pastor and an alumnus of NTS, I am excited to hear of the innovative ways the Seminary is forming ministers of the Gospel for the future.
