<td>Holiness and the Mission of the Triune God</td>
<td>The theme of God’s call to his people to be holy is well known. God’s concern for the poor, the alien, and other marginalized peoples is also well known. What is less known is how these two themes interconnect within the Scriptures. This workshop will explore that interconnection.</td>
<td>Dr. Tom Noble</td>

<td>Holiness, the Missional Church and Immigration</td>
<td>Dr. Tom Nees helped the Church of the Nazarene understand her missional roots in the area of Compassionate Ministry. Every year NTS provides an award in honor of Dr. Tom Nees and his missional work. This workshop will highlight this year’s award winning work presented by an NTS student on the topic of “Holiness, the Missional Church and Immigration,” along with a conversation hosted by NTS President, Dr. Carla Sunberg.</td>
<td>Dr. Carla Sunberg and Nazarene Theological Student</td>
<td>Carla Sunberg is president of Nazarene Theological Seminary. Previously she served as a missionary to Russia for 13 years and also as director of compassionate ministries and director of theological education in the region. Upon her return to the US, Dr. Sunberg and her husband served as pastors and district superintendents together in Indiana and Ohio.</td>

<td>A Christian Perspective on Immigration Law and Practice</td>
<td>In this workshop, we will discuss the basic legal structure of U.S. immigration law with a view to biblical principles as well as the adverse effects of the current law on individuals and families. Further, we will consider some practical ways local churches are ‘welcoming the stranger.’</td>
<td>Roger McCrummen</td>
<td>Roger McCrummen heads McCrummen Immigration Law Group, a Kansas City based immigration law firm. He has over 20 years experience in immigration law with law degrees from Texas Tech and New York University, as well as an M.Div. from Princeton Theological Seminary. Roger and his family are active members of the Overland Park Church of the Nazarene.</td>

<td>Welcoming the Stranger: A Biblical Framework for Thinking about Immigration</td>
<td>Immigration is a complex and often controversial issue within the US. Too often, Christians who profess that the Bible is their primary authority for thinking about any difficult topic have not recognized that immigration is also a biblical issue. In this workshop, World Relief’s Matthew Soerens provides an overview of how the Scriptures might inform our response.</td>
<td>Matthew Soerens</td>
<td>Matthew Soerens serves as the U.S. Church Training Specialist for World Relief. He previously worked as a Board of Immigration Appeals-accredited legal counselor at World Relief’s local office in DuPage County, Illinois and, before that, worked with World Relief Nicaragua. Matthew is the co-author, with Jenny Yang, of Welcoming the Stranger: Justice, Compassion &amp; Truth in the Immigration Debate. He also serves as the Field Director for the Evangelical Immigration Table.</td>

<td>The Mission on Our Doorsteps: Overcoming Barriers to Effectively Engaging Immigrant Communities</td>
<td>Immigration presents an unprecedented opportunity to “make disciples of all nations” right within our own communities—but many Christians have reservations about immigrants, particularly those without legal status, that keep them from these opportunities. In this workshop, Matthew Soerens addresses many of the most common concerns with serving immigrants, pointing to practical ways that churches can engage.</td>
