Claire Sanders Swift, President

It is with honor and excitement that I share news of progress at the ANWC. I took office in the heat of summer joined by a gifted and talented Board of Governors, many of them Past Presidents and longtime members. We gathered for our first Board meeting in July with new ideas, generous resources, good spirits and traditions to uphold and share. Our membership renewals and surveys have come in at a good pace, and many of you included extra donations for our new Elegant House Initiative and scholarships! Thank you to all of you who have renewed and who have been so generous in so many ways. We also have notable new members joining our ranks. Please consider sponsoring a member or two this year. Our new members bring us new life!

Not only have we been "listening" to you via your surveys and comments, we have spent the last few months getting our historic Cranford House "in order," so we can continue getting back in the swing with more programs, events, and attract like-minded institutions to occupy our rentals on the upper floors. (continued on page 2)

MEMBER NEWS

Theresa Werner

In 1932, our Club was founded as an alternative to the National Press Club where women were not admitted. Today, ANWC Past President (2004-2006) Theresa Werner is President of the National Press Club. Here she is pictured at a Press Club dinner featuring Secretary of Education Arne Duncan. Now that's progress! Congratulations Theresa! See page 3 for more about our planned ANWC/National Press Club Happy Hour on December 4th! (More member news on page 3.)

The third floor space has been completely restored. The fourth floor is also ready to go. If you have friends or colleagues who are looking for space, please share the photos of our gorgeous upstairs offices!

In your surveys, the number one request was - MORE PROGRAMS. And we've got them for you in our glorious Clubhouse. I've had the privilege of spending extra time at this elegant townhouse which is full of "treasures," some of which I stumbled upon in restoring the floors and organizing pictures. You'll read about some of those findings coming up.

We proudly coined our new tagline, Celebrating 80 Years of Women and Progress, and we've got only a few more months until we are 81. So let's keep celebrating how far we've come while building for our future. I encourage each and every one of you to get involved where you are able, and to keep the generous support coming. Our new regular office hours at the Clubhouse are from 11:00AM-4:00PM on Tuesdays and Thursdays, if you need to reach me or a live person. I look forward to bringing you a fulfilling year.

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS!

The American News Women's Club extends a warm welcome to the following four new members who were recently approved for membership by the Board:

New member Gale Curcio has extensive experience as a communications, event management, and development professional. She also spent 10 years as an editor and reporter for Connection Newspapers. In 2009, she organized Curcio Communications, a marketing and communications firm that has an extensive client list. Gale currently continues to enhance "Curcio Communications" depth of community knowledge through her concurrent role as a journalist for regional publications including the Connection Newspapers and www.localkicks.com. Based on the concept that "everybody has a story," Gale Curcio determines what makes each client unique and how to most effectively disseminate that information to the marketplace via newsletters, local publications, events, social media, and networking. Gale's preferred connections to the business, government, and social communities are critical to the success of her clients' marketing efforts, by placing her at the confluence of local thought leaders. Gale continues to expand those connections through her active participation in the Mount Vernon Chamber of Commerce (past board member), The Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, Washington Women In PR, and various business organizations.

MEMBER NEWS - SPANNING THE GLOBE

FALL 2012

Many of our members are winning awards, spanning the globe, or moderating a Presidential Debate! Lifetime Honorary Member and 2012 recipient of ANWC's Excellence in Journalism Award, CNN's Candy Crowley was tapped as the moderator for the October 16th Presidential debate. Other past recipients Jim Lehrer (1994) and Bob Schieffer (2004) also moderated our historic Presidential debates this year.

Our world traveler, Board Member and Past President Ginny Daly, has plans for exploring Machu Picchu in December. She has visited her ski house in Park City, Utah, to hike the upper elevations to prepare for the December trip. Ginny will be Co-chairing our Holiday Party on December 18th!

This summer, beloved Ann Ganz returned to Italy with her husband, a decorated WWII vet. She is also spending more time in Martha's Vineyard, where she sees member Olga Hirshhorn on occasion.

VP of Communications Eileen Higgins spent nearly a month traveling through Canada over the summer and will be traveling to Australia, New Zealand, and Fiji in November.

Sallie Foreman was awarded the Governor's Outstanding Volunteer Award for Leadership for her alliance to save lakes in Rehoboth Beach. She'll receive the award at the end of October.

Longtime member June Bowers was featured in the Herald Tribune from her home in Sarasota when her Aunt Phyllis Diller passed away in August. They were longtime friends as well as relatives. June's book "You Can't Fry Water and Other Revelations from the Lazy Gourmet" still makes a great read.

Karen Webster, former Club General Manager from the 1990s, reports she is doing well these days with her own thriving business assisting women in fixing up their homes. If you would like to be in touch, she can be reached at 703-517-2615. She sends her best to all.

Please send us your member news, email anwclub@comcast.net, call the office or send via regular mail.

In June Candy Crowley, CNN anchor and veteran reporter, was the Club's Excellence in Journalism Award honoree. After cocktails and dinner at the National Press Club, Candy was roasted and toasted by colleagues and admirers. Read the Washington Post write-up by "Reliable Source" mavens Roxanne Roberts and Amy Argetsinger. Candy's professional distinctions continue to accumulate: on October 16, she moderated the second debate between President Barak Obama and Governor Mitt Romney. We are so proud of you, Candy!

June 27, 2012: ANWC ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING / EVENING WITH BULGARIAN AMBASSADOR

Ambassador Elena B. Poptodorova of Bulgaria

The ANWC Annual Business Meeting and election of officers was followed by cocktails, dinner, and remarks by special guest Ambassador Elena B. Poptodorova of Bulgaria.

Ambassador Elena Poptodorova presented her Letters of Credence to President Barack Obama in August 2010, accrediting her as Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of the Republic of Bulgaria to the United States. Prior to her appointment in Washington, Ambassador Poptodorova was Director of the Security Policy Directorate at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in her country, a position she held for a year. From 2008 to 2009 she served as Ambassador-at-Large for the Black Sea Region at the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. From 2002 to 2008 she served her first term as Bulgaria's Ambassador to the United States, during the period when Bulgaria joined NATO and the EU. Ambassador Poptodorova is our close neighbor, residing in the Bulgarian Embassy next door to the ANWC Clubhouse.

September 20, 2012: A ROYAL EVENING WITH AUTHOR SALLY BEDELL SMITH

Lite fare buffet table for the Sally Bedell Smith program.

On September 20, 2012, American historian and bestselling author Sally Bedell Smith graced our Club with fascinating stories about her experiences while writing her latest book: Elizabeth the Queen: The Life of a Modern Monarch.

The evening began with cocktails and a buffet and ended with Smith signing copies of her book. In between, she shared her admiration of Queen Elizabeth's tenacity and total dedication throughout 60 years of rule. Smith joked that Queen Elizabeth must have an affinity for rain since she was born on a rainy day, her coronation was on a rainy day, and on her Diamond Jubilee it also rained. Smith's biography explores why the Queen is still relevant in the 21st century. She determined that Elizabeth is a staunch and tenacious wife, mother, friend, and a highly respected world leader, but admits that she walks a fine line so as not to lose her royal mystique. It was a full and lively evening.

HISTORY'S MYSTERIES AT CRANFORD HOUSE:

While working on restoring and refreshing our historic house this summer, we discovered beneath the black and white vinyl tiles on the first floor, white round tiles that appear to be the original tile from 1906 when Cranford house was built. More on this as we learn it.

We also discovered through archival research at the Library of Congress, (our new President Claire Swift is a documentarian) that Joseph Cranford owned and operated the Cranford Paving Company, which was responsible for paving many of the streets in Washington. More mysteries of our history uncovered in future issues. A field trip to our archives at the University of Maryland is in the works.

Please contact us if you have any leads or history to share, anwclub@comcast.net.
