Introduction

They are the axioms of uncertain origin. Some of our most repeated expressions are actually found in the Bible, but are so far removed from their contexts that the original intent of the Holy Spirit is all but forgotten. In this series of lessons, we will go back to the Bible to find the origin of these “Golden Rules” and then apply them according to the context provided.

Lesson 1: The Golden Rule

It was not Jesus, nor any inspired writer who described the words of Matthew 7:12 as the golden rule, but the term certainly fits. Jesus taught in the sermon on the mount: “Therefore, whatever you want men to do to you, do also to them, for this is the Law and the Prophets.” Indeed, this golden rule gets at the clear distinction between humanistic attitudes and the doctrine of Christ.

1. In applying the golden rule, are we taught to do unto others as they have or probably would do unto us? What is the difference between that and what Jesus actually said (Proverbs 24:28-29)?

2. Won’t application of the golden rule make Christians seem peculiar to those who give the rule only lip service? How should this affect our determination or self-estimation?

3. The context of Matthew 7:12 also helps to understand the teaching and how broad its application is. We shall consider the first 14 verses of the chapter. How does the prohibition of judging in Matthew 7:1-5 fit into the golden rule?

4. Would we want to be judged and told of our sin if we had actually fallen into something that would cost us our souls (James 5:19-20)?

5. What does it mean to bear others’ burdens (Galatians 6:1-5)? What attitudes make our efforts golden?
6. Matthew 7:6 warns us that sharing the gospel may cause some to treat us miserably. Would that give us the right to treat them shabbily in return or to abuse those cultists and sectarians who come to our door (Romans 12:17-21)?

7. Matthew 7:7-12 indicates that our initial impulse may be to treat others just as they have treated us and sometimes even to take advantage of them before they get the chance to abuse us. What does the writer of Philippians recommend instead (2:1-4)?

8. How do the Law and Prophets hang upon the golden rule (see Luke 10:25-37)? How does the will of Christ hang upon it as well (see Galatians 6:2 and First John 3:16-18)?

9. How would the golden rule apply to deeds like gossip and slander (First Thessalonians 4:9-11)?

10. What would make us want to bite and devour each other (see Galatians 5:13-15 and James 3:13-16)?

11. How does money often overturn the golden rule (First Timothy 6:6-10)?
Lesson 2: Turn The Other Cheek

Coming from a man who described himself as meek, the command to turn the other cheek is little surprise. Jesus taught: “whoever slaps you on your right cheek, turn the other to him also” (Matthew 5:38-39).

1. The ancient principle of justice which entailed “an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth” seems somewhat brutal to us today. Read Deuteronomy 19:21. Was this law intended to make retaliation more severe, less severe or equal to the wrong that had been done?

2. Did Jesus merely echo the law of Moses or did he announce what his own, differing, law would be in the New Testament?

3. The “turn the other cheek” context actually extends down into verse 42, giving three more examples of behavior that avoids retaliation and seeks peace. List the three additional examples:

   c.

4. Clearly, these commands require meekness in the Christian, rather than a bullish and belligerent attitude. What do the following passages teach about meekness?

   a. Matthew 5:5:

   b. First Thessalonians 5:14-15:

   c. Titus 3:2:

5. What is the meekness of wisdom, according to James 3:13-18?
6. The attitude that Jesus was trying to teach can be summed up as a determination not to retaliate with evil against a person who had done evil to us. List three ways in which the Christian is tempted to respond with evil to evil done to him.

   b.
   c.

7. What does it mean to give place to wrath (Romans 12:17-21)?

8. How do we manage to overcome evil with good?

9. Does turning the other cheek preclude us from defending ourselves against physical violence, material exploitation and other offenses? Does turning the other cheek preclude us from finding the address of the person who wronged us and going down there to punch him in the nose?

11. To whom does vengeance belong (Romans 12:19-13:7)?

12. The church at Corinth had members who were not adept at turning the other cheek. How did they respond when wronged by their own brethren (First Corinthians 6:1-8)?

13. Two solutions are given in this passage for handling matters when we are wronged by brethren. What are they:

   a. verse 7:
   b. verse 5:
Lesson 3: More Blessed To Give Than Receive

We have known since childhood that it is supposed to be more blessed to give than to receive, but where in the gospels is that handy little phrase found? And why then does receiving seem to be so enjoyable as well? We generally equate a blessing with the reception of something wonderful, so how can a blessing be found more in the giving of something good?

1. Read Acts 20:17-38. What sinful attitudes does he identify in verses 33 and 34 that would preclude us from giving to others? (The second one requires some thought. Refer to Second Thessalonians 3:11.)
   a. verse 33: __covetousness__
   b. verse 34: __laziness__

2. Does Paul describe the support of the weak as optional?

3. Besides the priests, five groups of people were identified in the Old Testament as worthy of the term “weak.” From the following passages, identify these classes:
   a. one class in Psalm 146:8: __disabled__
   b. three classes in Psalm 146:9: __stranger, orphan and widow__
   c. one class in Psalm 12:5: __poor__

4. One of the greatest cases of blessed giving in the Old Testament is done by a man named Boaz. Whom did he help? Into which of these five classes did that recipient fit?

   __Ruth was a poor widow__.

5. Besides keeping oneself unspotted from the world, what makes for pure and undefiled religion (James 1:27)? Considering the pronouns, is this primarily a collective responsibility of the church or the individual?

   __Visiting widows and orphans in their distress is the primary responsibility of the individual__.

6. How did the Pharisees avoid giving back to their aged parents (Matthew 15:3-6)? How did Paul characterize such behavior (First Timothy 5:8)?
7. Read Hebrews 13:16? What could make us forget to do good and share?

Indifference, greed, complacency, laziness.

8. Read Ephesians 4:27. For many, work is unpleasant. Why should the Lord’s axiom—“more blessed to give than to receive”—make work a little more rewarding?

Working with our hands gives us blessings which we can share with those who are in need, which becomes a second and greater blessing.

9. What universal law governs the matter of giving and receiving, according to Galatians 6:6-10? Again, is this an individual responsibility here or a collective one?

A man will reap only what he sows, so we should do good to all, especially those of our brethren.

10. People tend to dismiss opportunities to give when the need is small thinking that someone else will help or no real harm will come. They also tend to dismiss great needs because they feel overwhelmed. According to Titus 3:14, how should we handle these situations?

We should maintain good works, taking care of small matters, and meet urgent needs, those times when the need is great.

11. James 2:17 and First John 3:17 summarize the spiritual condition of a man who refuses to assist a brother in need. What is his condition?

His idle faith is dead and God’s love does not abide in him.

12. Is giving to the weekly collection an example of the virtue in this lesson (First Corinthians 16:1-2)? Why?

Yes, that money is shared with our teachers and needy brethren.

13. How should giving make you feel?

Blessed, happy, selfless, godly.

14. What attitude can ruin giving by revealing an improper motive (First Peter 4:9)?

Grumbling.
Lesson 4: In The Beginning ...

“In the beginning” is one of the most famous phrases in the Bible and not just because it is the first one in all the text. “In the beginning” answers one of man’s most vital questions: “Where did I come from?”. Yet it also implies the role played by our Savior in creation as well, for that trigger phrase is used again by John in his gospel account.

1. Read Genesis 1:1-25. When did God create the heavens and the Earth? In what condition was the Earth as God began his work?

2. What complicated process of evolution, trial and error did God employ to create light?

3. On what day did God create the grass and trees? On what day did he create the sun? Could millions of years somehow have separated these two days?

4. Read Genesis 1:26-31. How do the three persons of the Godhead figure into creation in this passage?

5. How do the following passages prove that there are two other members of the single Godhead in addition to the Father?
   a. Acts 5:3-4:
   b. Colossians 2:6-10:

6. Consider John 1:1-5. Did Jesus exist before the creation or is he a product of creation (cf. Colossians 1:15-18)?
7. Read John 8:58-59. Why is this claim of Jesus important to establishing his deity and existence before creation (cf. Exodus 3:13-14)?

8. Consider Genesis 1:31. Was man created with inherent depravity?

9. Read Genesis 2. Why did God create the woman?

10. What three requirements accompanied the creation of marriage in the beginning?
    a.
    b.
    c.

11. Make a list of sinful behaviors that ruined this ideal marital situation after the expulsion from Eden.
    a.
    b.
    d.

12. Read Deuteronomy 24:1-4. What allowance did Moses issue to deal with husbands who wanted to replace their wives with newer models?

13. Read Matthew 19:1-9. Did Jesus perpetuate the Mosaic allowance or point back to the Eden Ideal for the law of his kingdom?

14. What is the single ground for putting a spouse away that allows the other one to remarry?
Lesson 5: A House Divided Against Itself

Abraham Lincoln is known for pronouncing about the prospect of Civil War that “a house divided against itself will not stand.” Sage words, but Honest Abe was only borrowing them from Jesus Christ. What house did he have in mind and what is the danger of internal division today?

1. Read Matthew 12:22-30. This may require a good deal of deductive thinking: Whose house was Jesus talking about?

2. What did Christ’s ability to cast out demons by the power of God imply?

3. Is “Satan’s house” actually divided against itself (John 8:41-47, James 2:19-20)? How does it affect our efforts at being faithful?

4. The most common and obvious use of the house in scripture is to describe the home or family. How well will such a house divided against itself stand?

5. What issues cause the home to divide against itself?
   a.
   b.
   d.
   f.
   g.
6. Read Ephesians 5:22-33. How do the distinct roles for husband and wife contribute to the soundness of the home? How does ignoring those roles lead to instability in the home?

God ordained these roles for a reason, seeing that there could not be two heads of the home without anarchy resulting. The husband is to be the head of the wife and she is to submit herself to him. When a husband becomes henpecked or refuses to take the lead, all sorts of miseries are brought upon the home. His is to be a position of headship, but that entails more service than it ever could dictatorial power. Her is to be a position of submission, but that still leaves her great authority in the home over the children and the affairs of the house (Titus 2:3-5).

7. What can a wife do to lend stability to a home in which her husband is not a Christian (First Peter 3:1-6)? What can a husband do to lend stability to his home (First Peter 3:7)?

She can submit to him and adorn herself with godliness, that he might be won to Christ without a word. He can dwell his wife with understanding and honor.

8. What is the “house of God” in the New Testament (First Timothy 3:15; cf. Ephesians 2:19-22)? Is there a proper way to behave within it?

The house of God is the church of the living God, the assembly of redeemed people rather than a building in which they meet. There are both proper and improper ways to behave in it.

9. List five things that threaten the house of God with division.
   a.
   b.

10. How did John describe such division where he was in First John 2:19? What caused that division (cf. First John 2:18, 22 and 4:1-6 and Second John 9)?

    They went out from us, John says to describe their decision to go beyond the word of faith. They went out by means of heresy.

11. What is our earthly house (Second Corinthians 5:1)? How can it be divided against itself (Second Corinthians 5:10 and First Corinthians 6:18-20)?
Lesson 6: Money Is The Root of All Evil

“Money is the root of all evil,” they say, but just who are they? Well, they are the ones who tend to get pretty close to Bible quotations, but are a little less than precise. What did Paul really say and what did he mean?

1. Read First Timothy 6:3-10. What does Paul say is a root of all kinds of evil? Is there a genuine distinction between this and the common expression mentioned in the introduction?

   Paul says that love of money is a root of all kinds of evil. There is a distinction because money itself is neither good nor evil. It depends on how men respond to money and use it.

2. Why is godliness not a means of gain?

   Godliness has nothing to do with material prosperity, but is a means of great spiritual gain if one manages to learn contentment in spite of material increase and decrease.

3. What evil resulted from the rich young ruler’s love of money (Mark 10:17-22)? Is it possible for money to be an idol in your heart, even if you do not have as much as this man?

   His love of money caused him to value it over generosity and even entrance into the kingdom of God. Giving up his idol was a cross he was unwilling to bear. We can make money an idol every bit as much a this ruler even if we have far less.

4. Read on through Mark 10:25. Why is it so hard for the rich to enter the kingdom of God?

   Those who trust in riches are unlikely to empty themselves of such egotism so that they can humbly submit to Jesus.

5. Read Proverbs 15:27. How does a greedy man trouble his house?

   A greedy man will sacrifice his convictions and time with his family to satisfy his lust for money. He will gamble and overwork and define happiness by bank balances instead of love.

6. Read Proverbs 30:7-9. Why does the writer value moderation so much?

   He sees the risk of denying God if he has too much and the risk of resorting to theft if he has too little. If he has just enough, he figures to avoid the snares of both extremes.
7. Read Ecclesiastes 5:10. Why is the pursuit of riches so dissatisfying, even to those who obtain them?

8. What happens to a man who covets riches according to the following passages?
   a. First John 2:15-17:
   b. James 2:13-17:
   c. First Timothy 6:17-19:

9. How was money a root of evil for the two brothers who meet Jesus in Luke 12:13-21. What was Christ’s conclusion (verses 15 and 21)?

10. How can we learn to walk the fine line between the requirement of money in life and the threat of its becoming an idol and a snare (Phil. 4:11-13 and Matthew 6:25-34)?

11. What sinful attitude is revealed when one covets and is unscrupulous in a pursuit of riches, according to James 4:1-5 (cf. Matthew 6:24)?
Lesson 7: Judge Not, Lest You Be Judged

Matthew 7:1 has emerged as America’s most beloved verse of scripture, although many of those who adore it would be hard pressed to locate it on their own. Christ’s admonition against judging others has been taken up by unbelievers against the saints and has even become a favorite diversion employed by believers caught in unauthorized works. Does Matthew 7:1 really outlaw all judgments or is the admonition limited by its context?

1. Read John 7:21-24. Did Jesus forbid the Jews to make judgments of any kind? What did he command?

2. Those Jews were judging that Jesus had violated the law of Moses by healing a man on the Sabbath. Did Jesus himself ever judge people for violating God’s law of morality (see John 4:17-18)?

3. Read Matthew 7:1-5. What kind of judging is condemned here? Then consider Romans 2:1-3. What kind of judging is condemned there?

4. What practice will enable us to aid our straying brother, rather than simply condemning him and turning away?

5. Consider James 5:19-20. How can we try to turn someone back to the truth without making judgments about the morality of his behavior?
6. Many today in the church are suggesting that a refusal to make judgments about other religions and practices is evidence of a loving and spiritual heart. What does Paul say the truly spiritually minded person will do in Galatians 6:1-2.

7. Read Matthew 15:1-14. How did Jesus make judgments about the religious error of the Pharisees’ denomination?

8. Describe the attitude with which we may discuss and reprove the actions of our denominational neighbors (cf. Ephesians 4:15).

9. Read Acts 18:24-28. What would have resulted from an unwillingness by Aquila and Priscilla to reprove the error that Apollos ignorantly held and taught?

10. Romans 14:13 cautions us again not to judge our brethren, but consider the entirety of the chapter’s context. In what kinds of matters is judgment forbidden, since we know it is required when sin is committed?

11. If all judgment is sinful, how can a church practice the corrective discipline of withdrawal (First Corinthians 5:1-5) and marking (Titus 3:9-11)?
Lesson 8: For God So Loved The World

For some, is the only Bible they know and they depend upon it to make up for the rest that they never consider. “For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have everlasting life” (John 3:16). Some understand this wonderful verse to promise universal salvation while others at least limit it to the impossibility of apostasy for all believers. The context lends comfort only to those whose faith is active.

1. Read about the pilgrims’ progress through the wilderness in Numbers 21:4-9. Was their hardship self-inflicted or were they personally innocent of the trouble that befell them?

2. How did God punish his wayward people on this occasion? Did the punishment have any positive result?

3. Consider especially verse 7. Is there evidence of the following attitudes in the people’s speech?
   a. belief:
   b. repentance:
   c. confession:
   d. prayer:

4. If the chapter ended at verse 7, would the people now be free from serpents? What attitude appears in verses 8-9 that brings about relief?

5. Consider verse 8 closely. Suppose a man is bitten by a serpent, but thinks looking on the bronze serpent is silly, unnecessary or optional. Will he be saved from the bite anyway?
6. What does any of this have to do with John 3:16?

7. Was any human action required for relief in Numbers 21? Is any human action required for relief from the consequences of sin in the gospel age?

8. John 3:16 does promise that faith will save us. What kind of faith must that be to harmonize with these passages?
   a. Galatians 5:6:
   b. James 2:22: faith
   c. Matthew 7:21-27:
   d. Philippians 2:12:

9. Identify the ones in the following passages that believed, but because they rebelled anyway, were lost.
   a. John 12:42-43:
   b. James 2:19:
   c. Acts 26:27-28:

10. Identify the actions in the following verses that are said to precede salvation, as much as looking on the bronze serpent did.
    a. Hebrews 11:6:
    b. Acts 3:19:
    c. Romans 10:9:
    d. Acts 2:38:

11. Some would argue that some or all of these are optional and that one of them actually nullifies grace and attempts to put God in one’s debt. How does an attitude about obedience influenced by Luke 17:7-10 avoid such error?
Lesson 9: The Truth Shall Make You Free

There are two senses in which the phrase “The truth shall make you free” could be understood, but Jesus was using the more precise of them. Some today shout out this expression with reference to someone telling the truth about most any subject. Our Lord was talking about the truth regarding his identity and mission.

1. John 8 records not only the liberating effect of the truth, but also a full day of teaching, rejection and acceptance. Where did these events occur?

2. What was the first issue that Jesus had to confront there (John 8:2-11)? Did the scribes and Pharisees prove themselves to be concerned with truth or something else?

3. On what basis did the Pharisees reject Christ’s testimony about himself (John 8:12-20)? How did he answer them?

4. How did the Jews prove that they still were not grasping the truth and had their minds in the gutter (John 8:21-24)?

6. How do you know that you are one who seriously loves and pursues spiritual truth (First Peter 4:11, First Thessalonians 5:21, First Peter 3:15)?

7. Jesus claims that his crucifixion would make his divine claim more evident (John 8:24-30). Did it (Luke 23:44-48, Acts 2:36-38)?

8. Whom did Jesus begin to address specifically in verse 31? What challenge did he issue that began to confound their belief (8:31-36)?

9. What made these believers change their opinion of Jesus (8:48, 57-59)?

10. What is the truth that sets men free (John 18:37-38, Acts 4:11-12, 8:37, Romans 6:17)? From what does it set them free? To what?
Lesson 10: The Spirit Is Willing, But The Flesh Is Weak

Jesus asked one favor of his closest friends in his last hours and they were unable to grant it. He begged them to stay awake and watch with him, but they fell asleep anyway. Upon finding them dozing, Jesus said, “The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak.”

1. Read Matthew 26:36-46. The Lord’s request may not have seemed all that important to the apostles. What were they supposed to be watching for, even if they were unaware of it (see verse 47)?

2. According to verse 41, what would watching and praying help to prevent?

3. In your own words, explain the meaning of the phrase, “The spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak.”

4. Free will means that no man is compelled either by God or Satan to do good or evil, but possesses the power of choice. If we have the power to choose the right thing, why do we not exercise it all the time (James 1:14-15, Romans 3:23)?
5. Our spirits surely know that lying, stealing and lusting are wrong. For each of these examples, identify what weakness of the flesh causes people to commit them anyway.

   a. What might motivate a person to lie though he knows it is wrong?

   b. What motivates people to steal when they know better?

   c. What are some stumbling blocks when it comes to avoiding lust?

6. Is weakness of the flesh a sufficient excuse to make sin all right? What made Paul feel wretched prior to his conversion (Romans 7:21-24)? How should carnality be dealt with, according to Romans 8:1-5?

7. How are we filled with the Spirit’s influence (Galatians 5:16-26)? How can we know that the Spirit dwells in us (First John 3:24)?

8. The spirits of the Hebrews who began the Exodus were willing, but their flesh was weak. List some sins that resulted (First Corinthians 10:1-11).

   a. verse 6:                                             d. verse 9:

   b. verse 7:                                             e. verse 10:

   c. verse 8:

9. What will a strengthened, willing spirit do in time of temptation (First Corinthians 10:12-13, Matthew 6:9-13, Romans 12:21)?
Lesson 11: Hellfire and Brimstone

“Hellfire and brimstone preachers” are becoming a rare breed, but what is the derivation of this description anyway, and should we want to increase their number at all? The reference is to the practice of preaching sermons that strip the paint from the walls and trample on the toes of sinful listeners.

1. Hellfire is of obvious derivation—the description by Jesus of eternal torment as a place where the fire is not quenched. Brimstone may be less clear, but the word is a compound of Middle English words roughly translated “stone that burns” and is usually attached to sulfur. A “hellfire and brimstone preacher,” then, is likely one who excoriates sin and challenges the sinner with the certainty of eternal torment if he does not repent. Is there something inherently wrong with this approach? Why or why not?

There is nothing wrong with the hellfire and brimstone approach, provided that encouraging messages are also delivered. Sinners need to hear the truth and the truth is that sin leads to eternal death.

2. When Jesus taught about eternal torment in Hell, he used the nearby valley of Gehenna to illustrate its awfulness. Gehenna, southeast of Jerusalem, was called the valley of lamentation because of the cries of the infants who had been sacrificed to Molech there. After King Josiah abolished this barbaric practice, the valley was used as a garbage dump and final resting place for dead animals and executed criminals. To prevent putrefying the air, fire was kept burning there continuously and so was born the perfect illustration of the fires of Hell. Read Matthew 13:41-43, 49-50. What leads to the placement of some in Hell and what are its conditions like?

3. What reason does Jesus give in Matthew 7:13-14 for the majority of souls choosing an eternity in hellfire and brimstone? Will some religious people make the same choice (Matthew 7:21-23, Luke 6:46-49)?

4. Is “hellfire and brimstone preaching” an example of what is called today “negative preaching”? What kind of preaching is really negative (Acts 20:26-27, Second Timothy 4:1-5)?

5. Is scripture profitable for “hellfire and brimstone preaching” (Second Timothy 3:16-17)? Would you characterize Peter’s sermon in Acts 2:36-37 as the kind that cares enough to correct?

6. How should a listener respond to preaching that exposes his sin and confronts him with the fatal consequences of transgression (Second Corinthians 7:8-12)?

7. According to the following passages, who are bound for Hell?
   a. Revelation 21:8:

   b. Jude 6-7:

   c. Second Peter 2:4:

   d. Second Thessalonians 1:8:

8. What lengths should one go to in order to avoid Hell (Matthew 5:27-31)?

9. Which lasts longer—punishment or reward (Matthew 25:46, Second Corinthians 5:9-11)?
Lesson 12: Faith To Move Mountains

The men who built the intercontinental railroad could have used a faith that would move mountains, for they encountered many and had either to blast through or detour around them. Imagine the ability to move those mountains instead. Both Jesus and Paul taught that we have such a faith at our disposal, but how literal was their meaning?

1. Weakness of faith is relative, of course. The faith that Jesus chastised in his apostles as being weak is probably pretty strong compared to what many of us possess. On two occasions, we find our Lord disappointed in the effort or attitude of his closest followers because their faith had failed them when it was most required. What incidents prompt a rebuke in these passages?

   a. Matthew 17:14-21:
   b. Luke 17:1-6:

2. Consider Matthew 17:14-21. What prevented the apostles from exorcising that demon?

3. Clearly, the apostles were able to perform miracles and the point of our Lord’s pronouncement on moving mountains could be applied beyond natural ability. For us, however, in an age without supernatural ability, how can this famous statement be applied?

   Our faith must be able to move mountains figuratively. Whatever issues, emotions or obstacles seem immovable should not cripple our faith and prevent us from doing what is right.

4. List about four attitudes or circumstances that tend to limit what people are able to accomplish with their faith.

   b.
   d.

5. How did Jesus describe the mustard seed in Matthew 13:31-32? What is faith like a mustard seed, then?
6. Many things challenge our faith, but the apostles recognized the requirement to forgive the penitent as one of the greatest. What makes it hard to forgive a person like the one in Luke 17:1-6?

7. “Mulberry faith” allows us to be as merciful as Jesus demands. How do the following passages support this law of forgiveness?

a. Luke 11:4a: We ask God to forgive us even as we forgive others.

b. James 2:13: Judgment is without mercy to one who shows no mercy.

c. Colossians 3:13: We must forgive as willingly as Christ forgives us.

d. Matthew 18:21-35: Forgiveness must be from the heart.

8. If your faith is strong enough to forgive others, it has already moved a mountain that proves insurmountable to many. How does this attitude affect our prayers (Matthew 21:18-22)?

   Prayer must be made with faith that it can be answered, or it is worthless. One must have faith and not doubt that God is able to provide.

9. What does James say about the man whose faith is not even as large as the mustard seed (James 1:5-7)?

   He is a double-minded man who asks from a heart of doubt and disbelief. He will not receive anything from the Lord for that.

10. Consider First John 5:14-15. How does John describe mountain-moving faith in this passage? Does this mean that God will give us everything we ask for and as soon as we do?

   Here it is confidence that God hears and will answer. It does not follow that God will fulfill our every whim or answer our prayers according to any timeframe but his own.

11. Read Second Corinthians 12:7-10. Paul’s prayer was not answered the way he initially wanted. Does this prove that his faith was smaller than a mustard seed and unable to move mountains?

   No, it proves that we do not always know what to pray for, but when we are wrong, the better answer will be revealed.

   Love!
Lesson 13: Review

These axioms of uncertain origin are Biblically inspired expressions, often very far from their original meaning. When the reader reconsiders the intent of the Holy Spirit, the words are returned to their proper perspective and made all the more meaningful. This review lesson should further solidify the clarified understanding of these expressions.

1a. The golden rule, found in Matthew 7:12, begins with a word that is usually left off our recitation of it: “Therefore.” What is the “therefore” there for? In other words, what did Jesus just say previously which makes the golden rule so logical to him?

1b. List three actions that are implicitly prohibited by the golden rule and then three actions that are implicitly commanded by it.

Implicitly Prohibited:

a.
b.
c.

Implicitly Commanded:

a.
b.
c.

2. Considering the context of Matthew 5:38-42, is self-defense prohibited by the command to turn the other cheek? Explain your answer.

3. While it is more blessed to give than to receive, what additional attitudes must be present to make one’s giving worthy (First Corinthians 13:1-8, Matthew 6:1-4)?
4. How does Genesis First show a plurality in the Godhead at creation? How does John 1:1-14 prove that Jesus was part of that Godhead and is divine?

5. What accusation by the Pharisees occasioned Christ’s teaching that “a house divided against itself cannot stand” (Matthew 12:22-32)?

6. What means of great gain protects one against letting the love of money become the root of evil in his life (First Timothy 6:6-10, 17-19 and Phil. 4:11-12)?

7. What kind of judgment is prohibited in Matthew 7:1-5? Are we not to make any judgments? Should the Supreme Court be abolished?

8. Read all of John 3:10-17. How does the passage teach some responsibility on the part of man in his own salvation. What does Philippians 2:12-13 add to that understanding?

9. What is the truth that will make men free? From what (John 8:31-47)?

10. How does Paul confess that his unguided spirit was willing when his flesh was still weak from sin in Romans 7:19?

11. Lot’s wife met with hellfire and brimstone. What is the objective in remembering her, according to Luke 17:31-37?

12. How does faith move mountains, according to First John 5:4?
