Lighting the Way

Current Strategy

Security Selection Criteria:

The Henssler Equity Fund purchases high-quality, individual common stocks that are generally rated at least "A" by Value Line for financial strength, "A-" by Standard & Poor's for earnings and dividend quality, or "2" by Value Line for safety. The greatest risk to many clients' portfolios is the potential bankruptcy of any company whose stock they hold. Our firm's strategy seeks to manage client risk by using established stock ratings to guide purchases.

Fund Performance:

During the quarter ending June 30, 2017, total return for The Henssler Equity Fund was up 0.50% versus the S&P 500[†], which was up 3.09% and the S&P Mid-Cap 400^{††}, which was up 1.97%. The Fund benefited from strong performance in the Energy, Financials and Consumer Discretionary sectors.

For the year ending June 30, 2017, the total return for The Henssler Equity Fund was up 12.13% versus the S&P 500[†], which was up 17.89% and the S&P Mid-Cap 400^{††}, which was up 18.56%. The Fund benefited from strong performance in the one-year period in the Real Estate, Energy and Financial sectors.

The Fund experienced an intentional change in investment style from large company stocks to small- and mid-sized company stocks, according to market capitalization. The proper performance benchmark is, therefore, mixed between the S&P 500 and S&P 400 indices. Longer term returns are best measured against the S&P 500 while shorter term performance should be measured against the S&P 400.

Morningstar proprietary ratings reflect historical risk-adjusted performance as of June 30, 2017 For each fund with at least a three-year history, Morningstar calculates a Morningstar Rating[™] based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a fund's monthly performance (including the effects of sales charges, loads, and redemption fees), placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of funds in each category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. (Each share class is counted as a fraction of one fund within this scale and rated separately, which may cause slight variations in the distribution percentages.) The Overall Morningstar Rating for a fund is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five- and ten-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. The Henssler Equity Fund was rated against the following numbers of U.S.-domiciled Large Blend funds over the following time periods: 1,223 funds in the last three years, 1,080 funds over the past five-years and 802 funds over the

Market Commentary

The financial markets have roared ahead in the first half of 2017 seemingly boosted by political change. Since the Nov. 8, 2016 election, the S&P 500 Index[†] has increased by 14.78%, including dividends —9.34% of that dividend-adjusted increase came in the first half of 2017. This exceeds the average annual return history and also exceeds the range we forecasted in late December.

The S&P 400 Mid-Cap Index^{††} and the S&P 600 Small-Cap Index^{†††} have trailed the larger companies, returning 5.98% and 2.78% respectively, including dividends, since Jan. 1, 2017. However, both remain ahead of the S&P 500 if measured back to the election. It is hard to tell if the stall in price is correlated to political news or just the market waiting on action while fundamentals catch up with prices. Valuations in every space seem a bit high in our view.

While earnings growth in the first quarter was strong for S&P 500 companies, the political promises made in November seem to have stalled. The discussion to lower regulation and taxes continues and we believe real change remains possible. It almost feels like we are mired in a three-party political system with the two factions of Republicans being at odds on how to progress with changes. Any change is most likely to be unilateral. Only time will tell, but for now, we look to corporate earnings growth to provide a catalyst for higher market prices or justify the current price levels.

Market price ratios look extended at the moment as was our commentary in the first quarter of 2017.

past 10 years. With respect to these Large Blend funds, The Henssler Equity Fund received a Morningstar Rating of two stars for the three-year period, two stars for the five-year period and three stars for the 10-year period. The Henssler Equity Fund received an overall Morningstar rating of three stars. Past performance is no guarantee of future results.

^{†††}The S&P Small-Cap 600[®] Index by S&P Dow Jones Industries is an unmanaged, market capitalization weighted index that measures the Small-Cap segment of the U.S. equity market, reflecting the distinctive risk and return characteristics of this market segment.

It is not possible to invest directly in the S&P 500, the S&P 400 or the S&P 600.

[†]Beta is a measure of risk. It measures the relationship between a fund's excess return over T-bills and the excess return of the benchmark index. Equity funds are compared with the S&P 500 index. By definition, the beta of the benchmark (in this case, an index) is 1.00. Accordingly, a fund with a 1.10 beta has performed 10% better than its benchmark index—after deducting the T-bill rate—than the index in up markets and 10% worse in down markets, assuming all other factors remain constant. Conversely, a beta of 0.85 indicates that the fund has performed 15% worse than the index in up markets and 15% better in down markets.

Standard & Poor's Earnings & Dividend Rank

This is S&P's computerized measure of common stocks based mainly on 10-year earnings and dividend performance (not to be confused with S&P debt ratings). Rankings are as follows: A+ Highest; A High; A- Above Average; B+ Average; B Below Average; B- Lower; C Lowest; D In Reorganization; NR No ranking

Value Line Financial Strength Rating

A relative measure of financial strength of the companies reviewed by Value Line. The relative ratings range from A++ (strongest) down to C (weakest), in nine steps.

Value Line Safety Rank

A measurement of potential risk associated with individual common stocks. The Safety Rank is computed by averaging Value Line's Price Stability Index and the Financial strength Rating. Safety Ranks range from 1 (Highest) to 5 (Lowest). Conservative investors should try to limit their purchases to equities ranked 1 (Highest) and 2 (Above Average) for Safety.
