

An Evening with Professor Keith Ward

Churches Together in Lancashire with the Lancashire Theological Society and A Company of Speakers presents: An evening with the celebrated and internationally respected teacher and writer
Professor Keith Ward

“Stewardship or Dominion”

Lancaster Priory

Friday 1st February 7.00-9.00pm.

An evening with Professor Keith Ward to explore how church and faith groups can best respond to the growing crisis in climate and other environmental changes. Is it possible for faith groups to support the continued use and further exploration of fossil fuels or those forms of energy production that may be hastening Climate Change and endangering vulnerable people in the developing world. Does dominion over the earth give us the right to exploit the resources of the earth or does this God given mandate call us to a stewardship of the earth that seeks to safeguard the integrity of all creation, to sustain the earth, not exploit it?

“Join with me to examine deep ecology and Christian faith – a story of opposition and reconciliation”

Professor Keith Ward

To book a place at this event please visit:

www.eventbrite.com/e/stewardship-or-dominion-safeguarding-the-integrity-of-creation-tickets-54282058097

Professor Keith Ward has taught at the Universities of Glasgow, St Andrew's, King's College London and has held the posts of Dean and Director of Studies in Philosophy and in Theology at Trinity Hall Cambridge, Regius Professor of Divinity, Oxford and is now Emeritus Student of Christ Church, Oxford.